1. The Varsity Girls Soccer team huddles in the goalie's box before their last home game against Grove City. The girls demonstrated their team spirit by chanting "Two. Four. Six. Eight. Who do we appreciate? STU. STU. STU!" before each game in a salute to their coach, Stu Bell.
2. Scott Craft puts a protective arm around DeeDee Diersing while Eric Nelson attempts to steal a kiss. The Cross Country team shares a closeness among the runners due to the team's small size.
3. John Drexler becomes wrapped up in the excitement of the Homecoming dance. The lockers were covered with mylar, a thin aluminum foil, until the lights came on and people fought for small reminders of the festive occasion.

4. The United States, fearing a Cuban invasion, overtook Marxist-ruled Grenada on Tuesday, October 25, 1983. President Ronald Reagan claimed the goal of the invasion was to "protect innocent lives." Over 1000 American citizens located in Grenada on various missions, were evacuated when the threat first became publicly known.

FALL

5. Checking to see if the referee saw the play the same way as he did, Dan Weaver raises his arms to signal a touchdown. Dan led the Warrior line through this play and earned the winning touchdown.
6. In competition for the best air guitarist, Brian Brooks and Chris Ronk jam to the latest Def Leppard song at the after-game dance on October 21. Music King's award to the best guitarist was control of the fog machine for the next set of songs. In the past, the after-game dances were slow moving, but this year they were a great success.

1. The football season this year was one of the coldest ever, but that did not keep the Marching Band, Drill Team, and Flag Corps from attending every game. Becky Dalton, Erin O'Donnell, Michele Daubenmier, Cindy Carroll, and Lynn Pickholtz learned to bring warm jackets, leg warmers, and blankets to the game to keep themselves warm until their half-time performance.
2. Jumping for joy at the Homecoming dance, Bobby Moleski displays a perfect varsity. Bobby and some of the other break dancers spend their sixth period lunch in the freshman hall helping each other perfect their moves. Occasionally they come out and demonstrate their new techniques to the other members of sixth period lunch.

3. The Cheerleaders end each season with a pep assembly involving the team in an unusual game such as tug-of-war or musical chairs. This year Betsey Starinchak and Darla Hamilton move a yellow jacket piñata out of the reach of the football co-captains. None of the guys were successful until Jeff Liedtke took a powerful swing and crushed it to pieces.

FALL

4. Getting their tickets for the game that night, Kirsten Nilsen and Cheryl Bevan hand their money over to Mrs. Lewis during their lunch period. Tickets to the game cost $1.50 in advance and $2.50 at the gate.
5. Jeff Liedtke's swing is a bit too high to destroy the yellow jacket. However when it came time to meet the Mount Vernon team on the field, the Warriors destroyed the bees 12-6.
6. Perfect 10's Chris Tosi and Amy Treuman celebrate their 13-6 victory over the Blood Demons. The class of '86 raised their Powder Puff record to an even one and one.

6

1. The townspeople gather around Lisa Savage, trying to release the witch possessing her. Steven Nelson, Cindy Buckley, Brendan St. John, Michelle Thomas, Carl Brenner, and Paul Fidler were members of the fall play, The Crucible.
2. The Homecoming dance offers more than a romantic evening for couples. It also allows friends to get together and dance the night away. Over 250 couples attended the 1983 Homecoming.
3. Even the cold, wet weather does not dampen the determination of Stan Juris to defeat Beechcroft. After warming his hands, Stan returned to the field and completed the game.

4. Every other week before a game, the Westerville North Marching Warriors parades through the halls during seventh period in an attempt to remind students about the game and to also show the players that they have many loyal backers.
5. Terrorists drove a truck into a Marine compound at Beirut National Airport killing more than 240 Marine and Navy personnel in this suicidal mission in October, 1983. Iranian-backed terrorists claimed responsibility.

FALL

p. In order to raise the fans' spirits and get them to support their favorite team, Tom Pullin, Dave Hoheisel, and Scott Anderson spell out "Juniors" at the Powder Puff game on October 17. The annual event is a role reversal where the girls hit the field and the boys cheer on the teams. Even with the crowd support behind them, the Junior Thrashers lost to the Senior Psychos. This victory allowed the seniors to end their four-year football career with a record of 2-2.

OCTOBER 31, 1983

TIME

CARNAGE IN BEIRUT

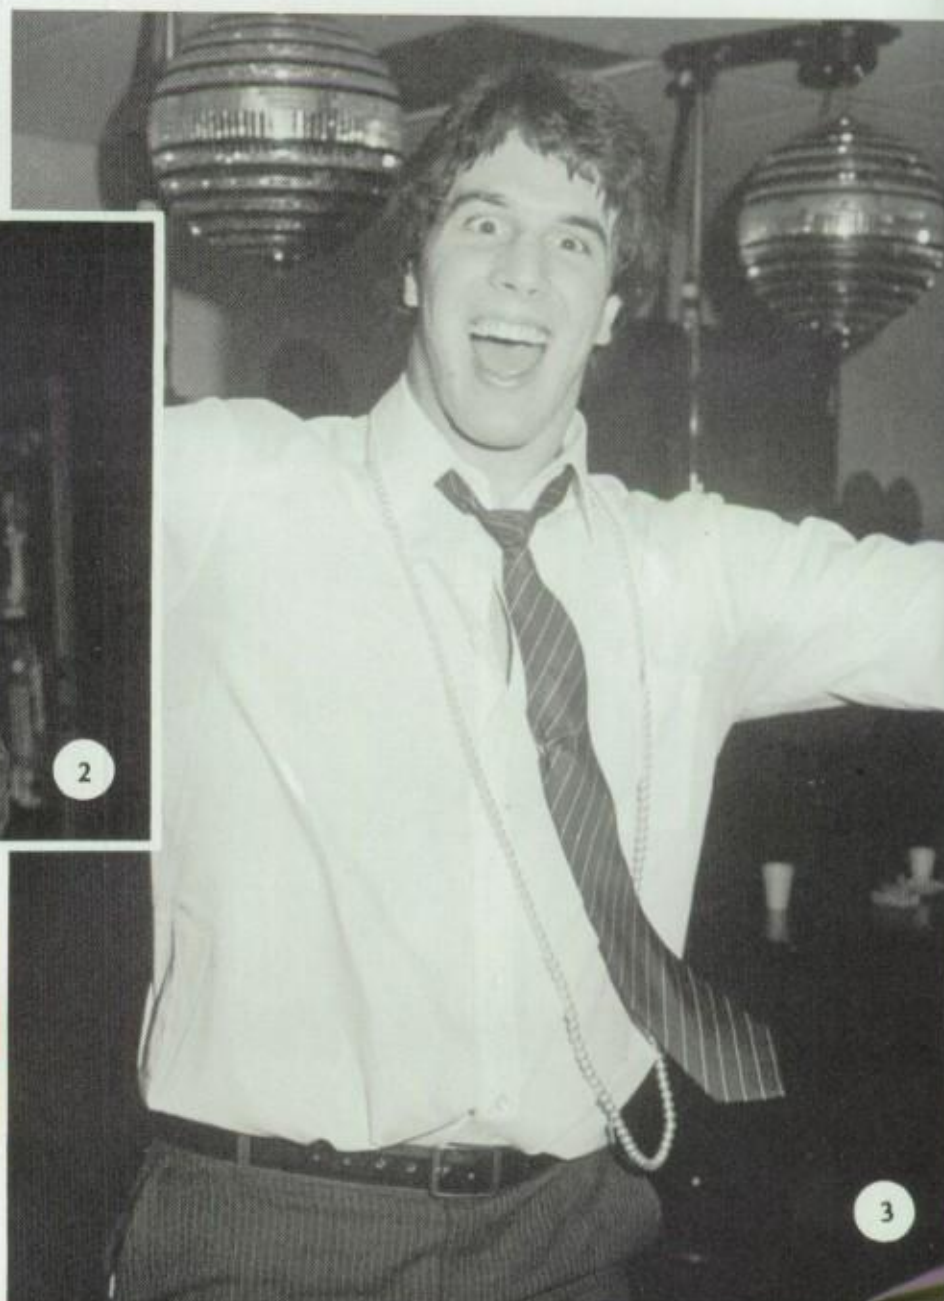

Mideast Madness Hits the Marines

1. Notables, a song-and-dance ensemble, spends long practices preparing a routine to perform for community and school organizations. Kris Kovach, Monica Enz, Leslee Warren, Jenny Croce, Tamara Strickland, Julie Ellis, Robyn Gilbert, and Betsy Anderson captivate their audience when they perform their Christmas show.
2. Now that soccer season is over, Mike Morris is already beginning to miss his senior soccer buddy, Charlie Fay. Mike is trying to coax Charlie into coming to the Varsity games next year.
3. Jim Davidson, in an attempt to begin a new fad at North wears a long strand of pearls to the Sweetheart dance. Jim's new trend never caught on, but he enjoyed the dance anyway.
4. Russell Smoot cuts loose! Considered one of the best break dancers at North, he stepped into the groove at the Variety Show sponsored by the drama department. The crowd cheered as Buddy Bailey and Jay Jacques pulled out an aluminum box and Russell burst through it making a professional-like stage entrance.

WINTER

5. A difficult maneuver terrifies Rob Knouse as he skis his way through Snow Trails. "I wasn't exactly sure what my landing would be like," he later exclaimed.
6. The AFS Halloween party was a success! In an attempt to familiarize the foreign exchange students with American holidays, Kim Mills, Debbie Radlove, and Tanya Van Drasek dressed up in wild costumes and attended the AFS-sponsored party. The party was held at the home of Phil and Dan Whitney.

1. What better way to get rid of the winter blues than to hold a luau during lunch? Members of sixth period lunch put on their Hawaiian shirts and surfing tunes and spend their lunch hour playing volleyball and throwing the frisbee.
2. Coach Hoover, new to the Basketball team, led the Warriors to a record-breaking fifteen wins. The coach gave the players talks on keeping spirits high and gave out key instructions for his team to follow.
3. With Mrs. Linzell standing on a chair, it is obvious whom she is blind folding. Jeff Davidson is getting ready to swing at the piñata made by the Spanish students. Mrs. Linzell holds "la fiesta de Navidad" each year.

4. Romantic music gets the best of Steve Salts and Mindy Knouse. The two were seen on the floor for a few of the fast songs, but they saved their real energy for the slow ones. Music King provided the music for the Sweetheart dance held in the commons on February 8, 1984. The dance is planned each year by the senior class.

WINTER

p. "Where's the beef?" Wendy's latched onto an unforgettable face and phrase to promote their hamburgers when they asked Clara Peller to present the slogan in their commercial. It was such a success. Wendy's made a sequel.

5. The girls in the chorus seem to be doubting Laurey's word on how she feels about Curly. Robyn Gilbert, Jenny Croce, Debbie Radlove, Beth Savage, Becky Dalton, Jenny Milligan, Michelle Wilkinson, Elysia Sylvester, Kathy Hoban, and Tamara Strickland listen to Kris Kovach as she sings "Many a New Day."

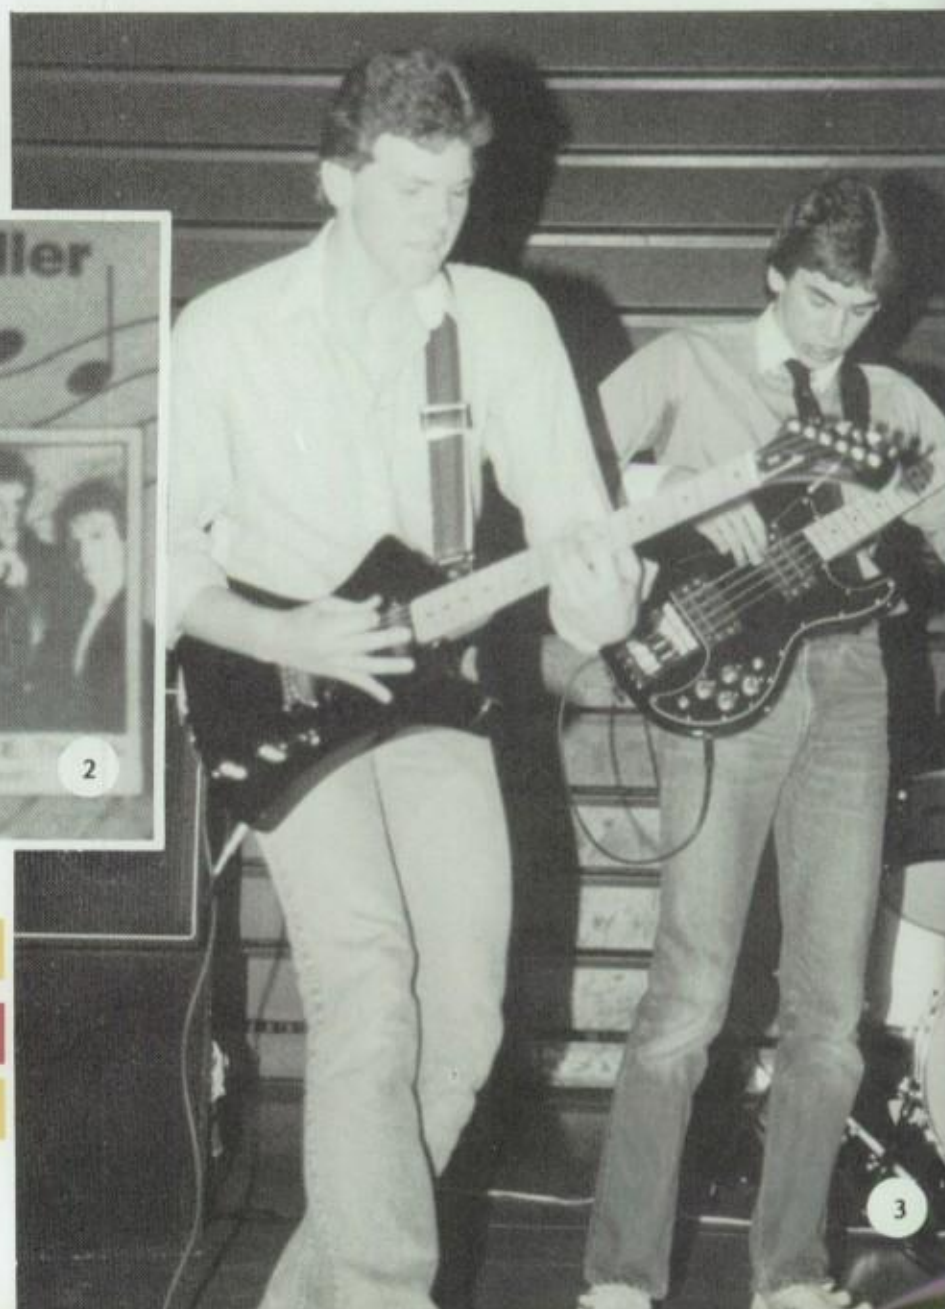

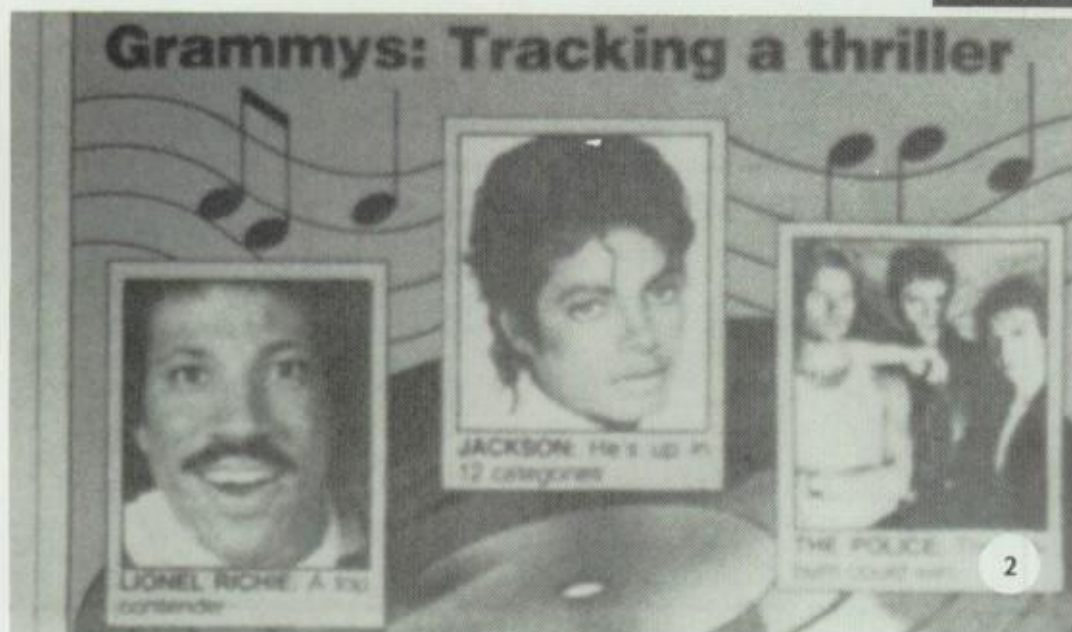

1. During one of the time-outs, Junior Varsity Cheerleaders Shelley Noble, Jackie Neuhardt, and Dixie Douglas perform a cheer for the Warrior fans. At a March cheerleading competition, the JV's received first place in the cheer division when they combined with the Varsity Cheerleaders.
2. He's a thriller! Michael Jackson is the biggest hit of 1984. His album, "Thriller," has produced more number one hits than any other performer's. It is also the biggest seller to date. Michael, age 25, received eight awards when he attended the 1983 Grammys.

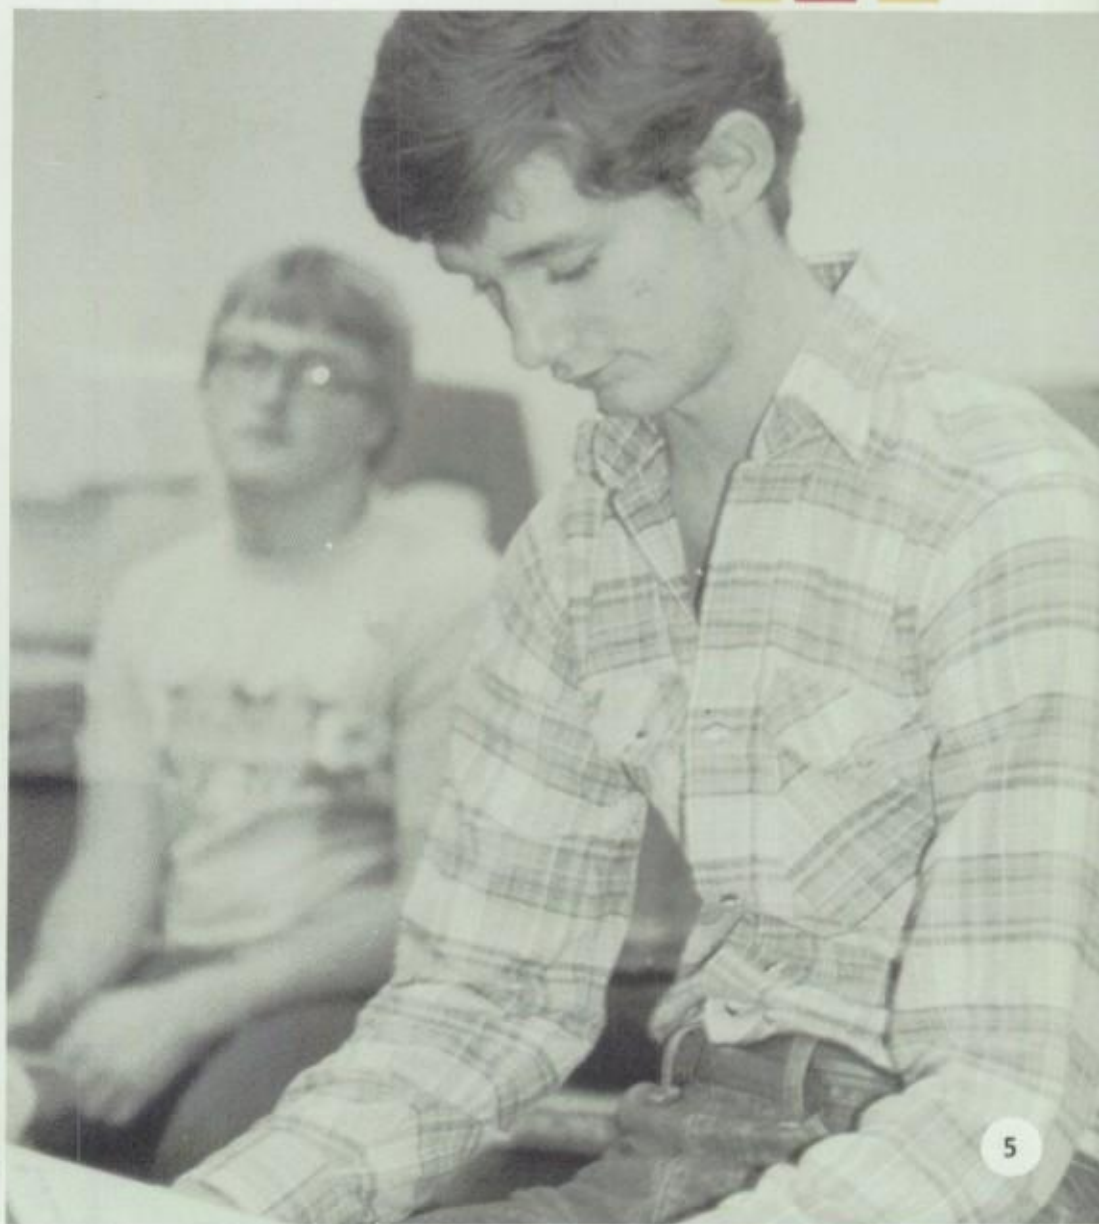

3. Tony Gilmore plucks out "My Generation," a Who song, while Mike Clark plays backup. The two boys are members of Quix, a band they created to perform at the Variety Show which was sponsored by the drama department. Other acts included a drum solo, several dance routines, and the finale which was a performance by Molecular Fire, an all-teacher band.
4. The Girls Swimming team had a great season this year. Kim Bainter, awarded "Most Competitive Swimmer," displays the style that earned her relay team the chance to attend the state meet.

WINTER

5. With nothing else to do in study hall, Bob Sietz leafs through one of the fall play scripts. Having friends that are in the cast allowed Bob to read the ending before he went to see The Crucible in the Arena Theatre.
6. The verdict is unclear as to whether the chili Bobby Sherman and Toni Sieve made in bachelor living is good. They look to Shawn Passen to see if he is brave enough to take the first spoonful. Shawn did eventually try it, and he reported that it might need a dash more chili powder.

1. The Golden Warrior, Westerville North's yearbook, has been in publication since the school opened in 1975. The staff consists of dedicated students who have decided to devote one class period per day plus many hours outside of class to create a photo look at the year's events. David Good, Michelle Johnson, and Leah Taylor hurriedly struggle to meet their spring deadline by March 28.
2. With their own rendition of "Little Rabbit Foo Foo," Lori Ide and Angel Dorsten prove that five minutes is plenty of time to get from one class to another. They even had time to lead their locker bay in a sing-a-long.

3. The Prom Style Show is a chance for seniors to model the fashions that can be found at Cia's Bridal Shop and Ohio Tux. The junior class is in charge of making all arrangements for the style show and also planning the prom. Joan Hepperle and Rick Taute match perfectly in the white and peach outfits and dazzle the audience when Rick removes Joan's garter.

SPRING

4. The long jump is Sue Dubenion's favorite event. She became the regional long jump champion when she broke the school record and the regional record with a jump of 18'6½".
5. Mrs. Bulthaupt and Mia Lanzador confer about the twenty-page research paper due in Pre-college Reading and Research on May 3.
6. Jim DiMarzo sits attentively in freshman English. This year North was invaded by a large freshman class; the freshmen outnumbered the seniors by more than 100 students.

1. Well, juniors, it's time to start thinking about your future. When spring rolls around, Mr. Smith has a meeting with all college-bound juniors to discuss ACT's and SAT's. Mike Ochsenhirt, Michelle Barrow, and Lisa Griffith check the schedule of test dates to find out how much longer they have to study. Good luck!
2. As the year is concluding, Student Council president Julie Ellis urges underclassman to vote for the officers of the 1984-85 Student Council. After a run-off election, the student body selected Amy Noble as president for the upcoming year.

3. Susie Freeburn and escort Jim Davidson model popular prom fashions in this year's prom style show. The junior class officers planned the event in an attempt to generate excitement for this year's grand prom.
4. Coach Haegele kneels outside the Warrior dugout as the team warms up for the game against Worthington which they won 6-1. Mr. Haegele has been a baseball coach for 13 years.

SPRING

5. Michelle Moore, Kim Jones, Julie Snell, and Jaris Marshall strive for the perfection necessary to earn a position on the 84-85 Drill Team. Practice clinics were held for five days prior to try-outs for the girls to learn the required routines.
6. "No! No! No! A thousand times no!" exclaims Purity Dean (Julie Carpenter) in protest to Mortimer Frothingham's (Todd Strickland) threats as she accidentally hits baby Wilhelmina against the pillar. Pure As the Driven Snow was North's final production this year.

1. Sophomore Lisa Thomas is a junior varsity baseball stat. Before the start of a home game, she helps out in the concession stand.
2. Reagan visited China on April 27, 1984. The two nations had reached an agreement on a nuclear technology pact that would allow U.S. businesses to sell nuclear equipment to the Chinese. In his week-long stay, Reagan also toured the country and commented on the rapid expansion of the nation.
3. Mr. Haun and Leslee Warren prepare to depart for a luncheon of the Rotary Club at the Villa Milano. Leslee was chosen as Rotary's Senior Student of the Month in May.
4. David Hoheisel discusses game strategy with an opponent. David, co-captain, advanced to the state tournament after winning the district 6-3, 6-2.
5. The 1984 Olympics are being held in Los Angeles this summer. The Soviets and several other communist countries have threatened to boycott the Olympics. Perhaps the reason for the withdrawal might be because the U.S. led 36 nations in boycotting the 1980 Olympics in Moscow in protest against the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan.

6. This year's prom was reminiscent of the '60's. The Eddie Pollina Band directed the '80's kids in '60's style dancing. Kelly McMeekin and Pat Ryan stroll down the middle of a '60's line dance.

President and Mrs. Reagan carry bouquets and wave during welcoming ceremony.

Reagan tells Chinese:
We'll walk by your side

SPECIAL EVENTS

Gym transformed into park for Homecoming 83

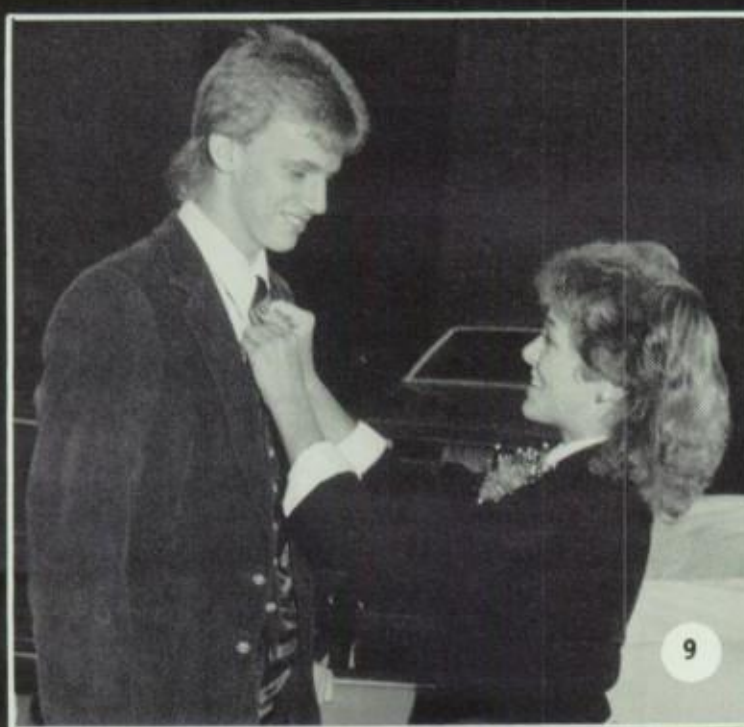

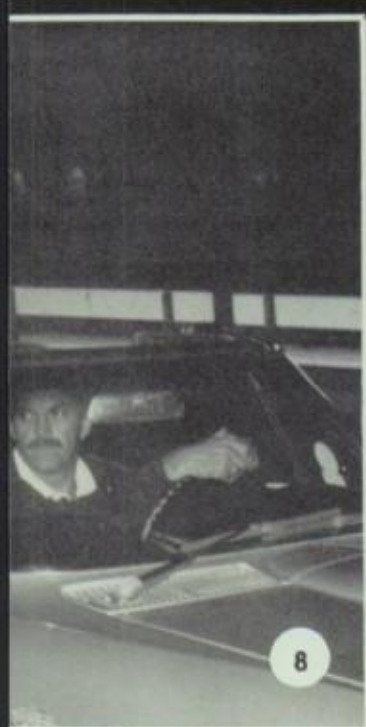

Westerville North's Homecoming was one to remember. The "red letter" weekend began with an assembly on September 29. The Student Council transformed the gym into a beautiful park by using white wrought iron furniture and several trees. Memories filled the air as last year's theme song, "Love Lift Us Up," was played by the orchestra while Teresa Verne, the 1982 Homecoming queen, and her escort, Steve McConaghy made their final walk. This year the slide show focused on the attendants rather than various students in the school. It was presented as the court members were announced. The choir with soloists Leslee Warren and Todd Strickland, performed the theme song, "Endless Love," by Lionel Richie. Soon after, Leslie Flacche was crowned the 1983 Homecoming queen. Following the assembly, a luncheon was held at Betsey Starinchak's house to honor the court and their escorts. Friday night the new queen and her court reigned over the Warriors' football victory against Franklin Heights.

1. The 1983 Homecoming Queen: Leslie Flacche.
2. Senior attendant Darla Hamilton and her escort, P.T. Dillmore, share a romantic dance as they reflect on the big weekend.
3. After the pre-game festivities, freshman attendant Tamara Dohnert chats with close friends Debbie Drum and Kelly Hammond.
4. Senior Jeff Liedtke escorts senior attendant Kathy Freeman through the trellis made and decorated by the Student Council. The Student Council worked on the gymnasium until 2 a.m. to make it just perfect.
5. Junior attendant Heidi Townsend receives her flowers from Lisa Butler. Each girl was accompanied by a captain of the football team to their chosen escorts.
6. THE 1983 HOMECOMING COURT — Front: freshman T. Dohnert, freshman J. Monroe. Row 2: junior C. Bevan, sophomore M. Drayer, sophomore B. Guss, junior H. Townsend. Row 3: senior D. Hamilton, Queen L. Flacche, senior K. Freeman.
7. Sophomore attendant Bev Guss enjoys the thrill of representing her class as she rides around the Warrior track before the game.
8. Cheryl Bevan, junior attendant, flashes a friendly smile to the Warrior football fans. Cheryl is riding in a 1966 Corvette owned by Rick Taute.
9. Before the start of the football pre-game festivities, freshman attendant Jamie Monroe straightens Dan Tharp's tie.
10. Kelly Lynch stole sophomore attendant Mindy Drayer away from her escort, Jeff Kondas, for a "friends only" dance.

"Endless Love" symbolizes sentiments at 1983 dance.

The night was October 1, and the event was the 1983 Homecoming Dance. The scene was lovely with the theme "Endless Love" shown throughout Westerville North's commons. The Student Council Homecoming dance committee, headed by Diane Anderson, Lisa Butler, Becky Dalton, Julie Ellis, Mindy Knouse, and Amy Noble, spent many hours on this year's dance working on projecting a park scene. The colors used were forest green, silver, and beige.

ATR was the band providing the music which was at times fast and fun and at moments slow and serene. Todd Taylor and Kris Kovach performed the duet, "Endless Love."

The dance began at 9:30 Saturday evening and ended at half past midnight with the final playing of the theme song. The following Monday when everyone returned to school, "Homecoming 83" was another fond memory the couples' at North wrote about in their diaries and added Homecoming souvenirs to their scrapbooks.

1. Senior guys, Bob Woodruff, Kevin Wright, Romeo Cabungcal, and Tom Richards, outnumber the girls, Mimi Cahill and Debbie Thomas, as they perform for the underclassmen. Seniors usually lead the way to bizarre dance styles and the underclassmen are not far behind.
2. Juniors Pete Ellsworth, Jeff Perkins, and Tom Westfall get a kick out of this year's Homecoming Dance by following in the footsteps of the departed Bardash, Grote, and Dillmore.
3. Boys, when will you learn how to tie your own ties? Tine Neff attempts to help freshman Jeff Taute with this "tedious" task hoping to succeed soon, so she can return to the dance floor.
4. Ross Thomas and Amy VanDyke cuddle during one of the fast-paced songs played by ATR, a local band. Many couples take an opportunity to rest by getting a glass of punch provided by Student Council.
5. Senior Kevin Westhara moves to the beat of the fast-moving music played at the dance. His solo performance caught the attention of those dancing nearby.

A king is crowned for 83 Powder Puff games

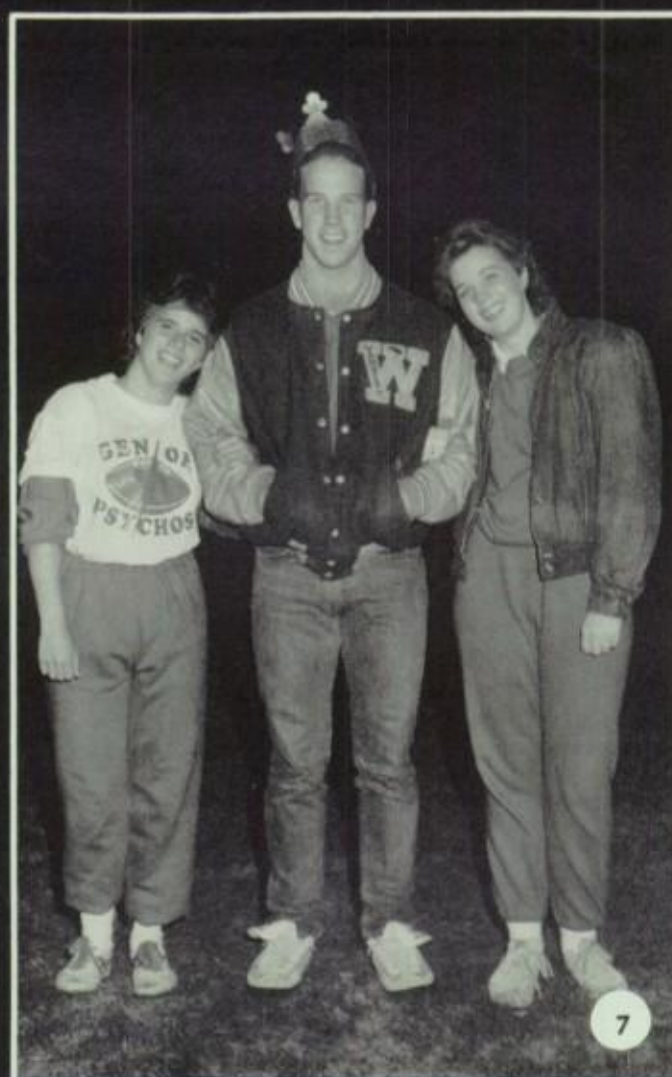

Westerville North's first king and his all-male court reigned over the ninth annual Powder Puff game October 17. Senior Tom Richards was crowned king at the pep assembly that day. Members of the court were seniors Chris Collins and Romeo Cabungcal, juniors Tom Westfall and Eric Fester, sophomores Jeff Jenkins and Paul Wiseman, freshmen Mic Gordon and Mike Musurca. During the first game, the sophomore Perfect 10's defeated the freshmen Blood Demons 13-6. Nikki Cozzens scored the only touchdown for the freshmen, and Vicki DiGuilio scored both touchdowns for the Perfect 10's while Betsy McKinley made the conversion point. Between games, the king and his court were driven around the track in a red truck as the theme song, "Sharp Dressed Man," was played on the P.A. system. In the second game, senior Psycho Cassie Baughman scored the only touchdown in the game. The senior Psychos trounced the junior Thrashers 6-0.

1. Senior Betsey Starinchak, Leslie Flacche, and Kelly Karshner are really psychos. They should be considered armed and dangerous and should be approached with caution.
2. In his second life freshman Neil Burns wants to be a cheerleader.
3. SENIOR PSYCHOS — Front: J. Hepperle, L. Rank, D. Thomas, R. Vaccari. Row 2: D. Vaughn, S. Nedved, K. Porter, J. Kessel, B. Starinchak, LE Flacche. Row 3: V. Gilliland, J. Drum, G. Sapp, U. McCafferty, K. Wilson.
7. THE 1983 POWDER PUFF KING — Tom Richards escorted by the senior captain, Rita Vaccari, and his sister, Tracy Richards.

The Crucible plays November 10-12

The Crucible, by Arthur Miller, was written in the early 1950's when there was a "witchhunt" going on in Washington, D.C. During the "Red scare," people were not being called witches; they were known as communists. The Senate Committee on UnAmerican Activities became a panel of judges, and people were not hung but blacklisted. Mr. Miller crafted a play about unjustly accusing people who have little chance to defend themselves. His play, set in Salem, Massachusetts, in 1692, teaches that history repeats itself by drawing comparisons between the Salem Witchtrials and the modern day "witchhunt."

The play centered around a group of girls, who, with the help of a black servant, conjured evil spirits. They begin to accuse townspeople of witchcraft. The Crucible climaxes when Elizabeth Proctor (Lynn Wattles), the saintly wife of John Proctor (Todd Strickland) who is later labeled as a witch, is accused of witchcraft.

1. During the trial of Elizabeth Proctor, Reverend Hale and Reverend Paris (Steve Nelson) try to comfort the "afflicted" girls who are trying to convince the court that they are being tormented by evil spirits.
2. Reverend Hale (Carl Brenner) tries to save Tituba (Antionette Davis) from being corrupted by the Devil as the townspeople and two of the possessed girls look on. Tituba and the girls cry out the names of the people they saw conferring with the Devil.
3. During the play's final scene, Goody Proctor watches as her husband goes to hang. Reverend Hale pleads with her to convince John Proctor to sign the confession of witchcraft. John refuses because he says, "I can not sign myself to lies."
4. Elizabeth Proctor (Lynn Wattles) and her husband, John Proctor (Todd Strickland), discuss the witchhunt in their town at the supper table.
5. Kneeling: V. Blayney, D. Insull, M. Knouse, R. Terry, A. Dillion, T. Neff, L. Savage, J. Milligan, D. Troup. Sitting: M. Erickson, D. Lefler, C. Brenner, T. Pullin, K. Kovach, S. Nelson, A. Davis, M. Thomas, K. Cintron, L. Thomas. Standing: E. Van Otterren, S. Killan, C. Rowe, N. Weitzel, G. Grandominico, N. Drexel, S. Salts, J. Lanzador, B. St. John, T. Strickland, P. Fidler, C. Buckley, L. Wattles, T. Gilmore, A. Noble, D. Kerkhoff, T. Taylor, S. Strausser.

Nine sweethearts elected to winter homecoming

The 1984 Sweetheart Court was honored in an assembly on Friday, February 10. The Senior Class Council had worked diligently through the night to decorate the gym in red, white, and silver. The Class Council was headed by the four Senior Class Officers, Julie Hurtt, Betsey Starinchak, Tracy Richards, and Rita Vaccari. Because Julie, Betsey, and Rita were the three nominees for queen, only Tracy was left with the last minute decoration details. The theme, "Only You," appeared in silver glitter outlined with red on the backdrop behind the court's seats. This year a more extensive slide show was presented, and the queen was announced as the last slide was shown which was a picture of the new queen, Betsey Starinchak, wearing her crown. Alison Rathke, the 1983 Sweetheart Queen, returned to Westerville North to crown Betsey. An ensemble provided the music with solos performed by Todd Strickland, singing last year's theme, "Truly," and Robyn Gilbert, singing "Only You."

The court was honored Friday evening during the halftime of the boys varsity basketball game against Whitehall.

1. Julie Hurtt, senior attendant, and Robbie Proffit embrace during the court dance to "Only You." Julie is the president of the senior class and a member of the Golden Warrior Yearbook staff.
2. Senior attendant Rita Vaccari and her escort Jeff Shaheen pause under the 6-foot foil heart. Rita is the treasurer of the senior class and was a member of the girls varsity volleyball team.
3. Amy Dannis, junior attendant, waits to meet her escort Tom Crumrine after receiving her bouquet of silk roses from a member of last year's court.
4. Freshman attendant Lisa Letzelter and her escort Vince Gilliland watch the other members of court. The freshmen are the first to take their places and can relax and enjoy the festivities of the assembly.
5. Mindy Bell, junior attendant, and her escort Tom Westfall relax after the long walk from one end of the gym to the other which seemed to take forever.
6. Sophomore attendant Cindy Harroun and her escort John Wiles smile at their friends in the audience.
7. "Which way do we go?" For freshman attendant Laurie Cochran and Mic Gordon, her escort, the complexities of the two separate pathways in the assembly were nerve racking.
8. 1984 Sweetheart Queen: Betsey Starinchak.
9. 1984 SWEETHEART COURT — Front: Lisa Letzelter and Laurie Cochran, freshmen. Row 2: Julie Hurtt, Betsey Starinchak, and Rita Vaccari, seniors. Back: Cindy Harroun, sophomore; Mindy Bell, junior; Amy Dannis, junior; Chris Tosi, sophomore.
10. Sophomore attendant Chris Tosi and her escort Jeff Drum join arms and start their walk to their seats.

Sweetheart Dance sponsored by Senior Class Council

The Senior Class Council worked diligently on Saturday, February 11, to decorate the commons for the Sweetheart Dance that evening. The commons was adorned with hundreds of hearts to illustrate the theme "Only You." Although the dance officially began at 9:30, posing for family photos and dining at a fancy restaurant delayed many couples. In addition to dancing to the smooth slow singles and riveting rock records provided by Music King, many couples wanted the photographer from Cubberly Studios to capture their romantic evening on film. Couples will recall memorable moments of the 1983 Sweetheart Dance for many years to come.

1. After a romantic evening of dinner and dancing, Mark Woodruff sweeps Julie Snell off her feet.
2. Barb Keefer and Brad Axline share time alone before joining other couples on the crowded dance floor.
3. No matter how hard they try, Gary Wood and Stacy Darland cannot talk Music King into playing a tango.
4. When the dance ends, senior Leslie Fiacche gives good friend Lisa Butler a good-bye hug.
5. Cheryl Bevan and her date Keith Cox pose for Cheryl's sister Jill. All two hundred of the hearts in the background were hand made by Leah Nelson and Tanya VanDrasek.
6. Jackie Powelson ponders an important question: Should I or should I not wear my shoes?
7. While their dates are powdering their noses, Jeff Drum and Bob Moleski pair up for the next slow dance.

*Audiences enjoy old favorite, Oklahoma!

Westerville North's Drama Department presented the musical Oklahoma! on March 1, 2, and 3. Oklahoma! was the first American musical to combine story, dance, and music into one production and, in 1943, was the first musical play to be awarded a Pulitzer Prize. Oklahoma! broke all existing records during its run on Broadway.

North's rendition of the musical was directed by Mr. Tim Brown and was held at the Westerville Performing Arts Auditorium. Auditions were held in December and rehearsals started shortly after Christmas break. The musical centers around a girl named Laurey (Kris Kovach) who has a good guy named Curly (Todd Strickland) and a bad guy named Jud (John Drexler) after her attentions. Will Parker (Carl Brenner) chases after Ado Annie (Becky Johnston) who has taken a liking to the Persian peddler, Ali Hackim (Tom Pullin). All the while Laurey's Aunt Eller (Leslee Warren) tries to make peace among the two triangles ...

1. Laurey (Kris Kovach) and Curly (Todd Strickland) ride off into the sunset in their "surrey with the fringe on top" during the finale.
2. CAST & CREW — Front: N. Weltzel, R. Gilbert, B. Timmins, T. Strickland, A. Dillion, E. Sylvester, M. Wilkinson, L. Savage, D. Lefler, T. Sroufe, W. Habich, J. Cooper, A. Rosser. Row 2: N. Drexel, K. Stires, L. Wattles, M. Erickson, M. Clark, B. Savage, S. Spasiano, K. Kovach, P. Fidler, S. Nelson, C. Brenner, S. Houston, K. Holtzapfel. Row 3: J. Beck, S. Kilian, R. Terry, J. Croce, J. Carpenter, B. Johnston, J. Milligan, D. Radlove, T. Neff, D. Kerkhoff, K. Hoban, L. Warren, B. Dalton, S. Salts, B. St. John, J. Whalen, T. Pullin, G. Grandominico, M. Thomas, C. Rowe, S. Strausser, K. Carle, K. Martin. Row 4: J. Haller, S. Freeburn, J. Drexler, T. Strickland, D. Troup, R. Holtzapfel, T. Gilmore.
3. Aunt Eller's farmhand Jud (John Drexler) cavorts with the can-can girls during the "Dream Ballet."
4. The farmers and the cowmen stop feuding long enough to dance before the picnic baskets are auctioned off at the box social. Mrs. Melynda Lott choreographed the dance steps, and Mrs. Joyce Stonebraker directed the voices of the 24-member chorus.
5. Relieved that Ado Annie (Becky Johnston) is going to marry someone else, All the peddler (Tom Pullin) gives Annie a Persian good-bye as he departs for the open road.
6. Curly opens the show by singing "Oh, What a Beautiful Mornin'" to Aunt Eller (Leslee Warren) to convince her to persuade Laurey to accompany him to the box social.
7. In the "Dream Ballet," Jennifer Croce and Drew Kerkhoff portray Laurey and Curly in Laurey's dream of the future.

Pure as the Driven Snow is 50th production for T. Brown

Pure as the Driven Snow, Westerville North's spring play, was presented in North's arena theater on March 29-31. The 19th century melodrama, written by Paul Loomis, marked the 50th high school production directed by Mr. Brown.

The three-act play tells the tale of the hero, Leander Longfellow, who lives at the Uland Inn with his aunt and uncle. He falls hopelessly in love with the beautiful Purity Dean who claims she cannot marry him because of a dreadful secret she cannot divulge. The plot thickens as the evil Mortimer Frothingham and a variety of other characters appear at the Inn. With the help of a mysterious young model, the villain is finally defeated, and Purity's secret is revealed in the final scene.

1. Rid of the evil villain and her dreadful secret at last, Purity (Julie Carpenter) and Leander (Steve Salts) live happily ever after.

4. "Walk this way," instructs Paw (Paul Fidler) as Letty (Lisa Savage) and Mrs. Hogue (Dana Levy) follow.

5. The cruel and scheming Imogene Pickens (Robyn Gilbert) stops Leander Longfellow in the middle of his hysterical laughter to explain to the audience about her love for him.

6. The evil villain Mortimer Frothingham (Todd Strickland) and Jedd Lunn (Bill Timmins), his sidekick, plot their next scheme to ruin Leander Longfellow.

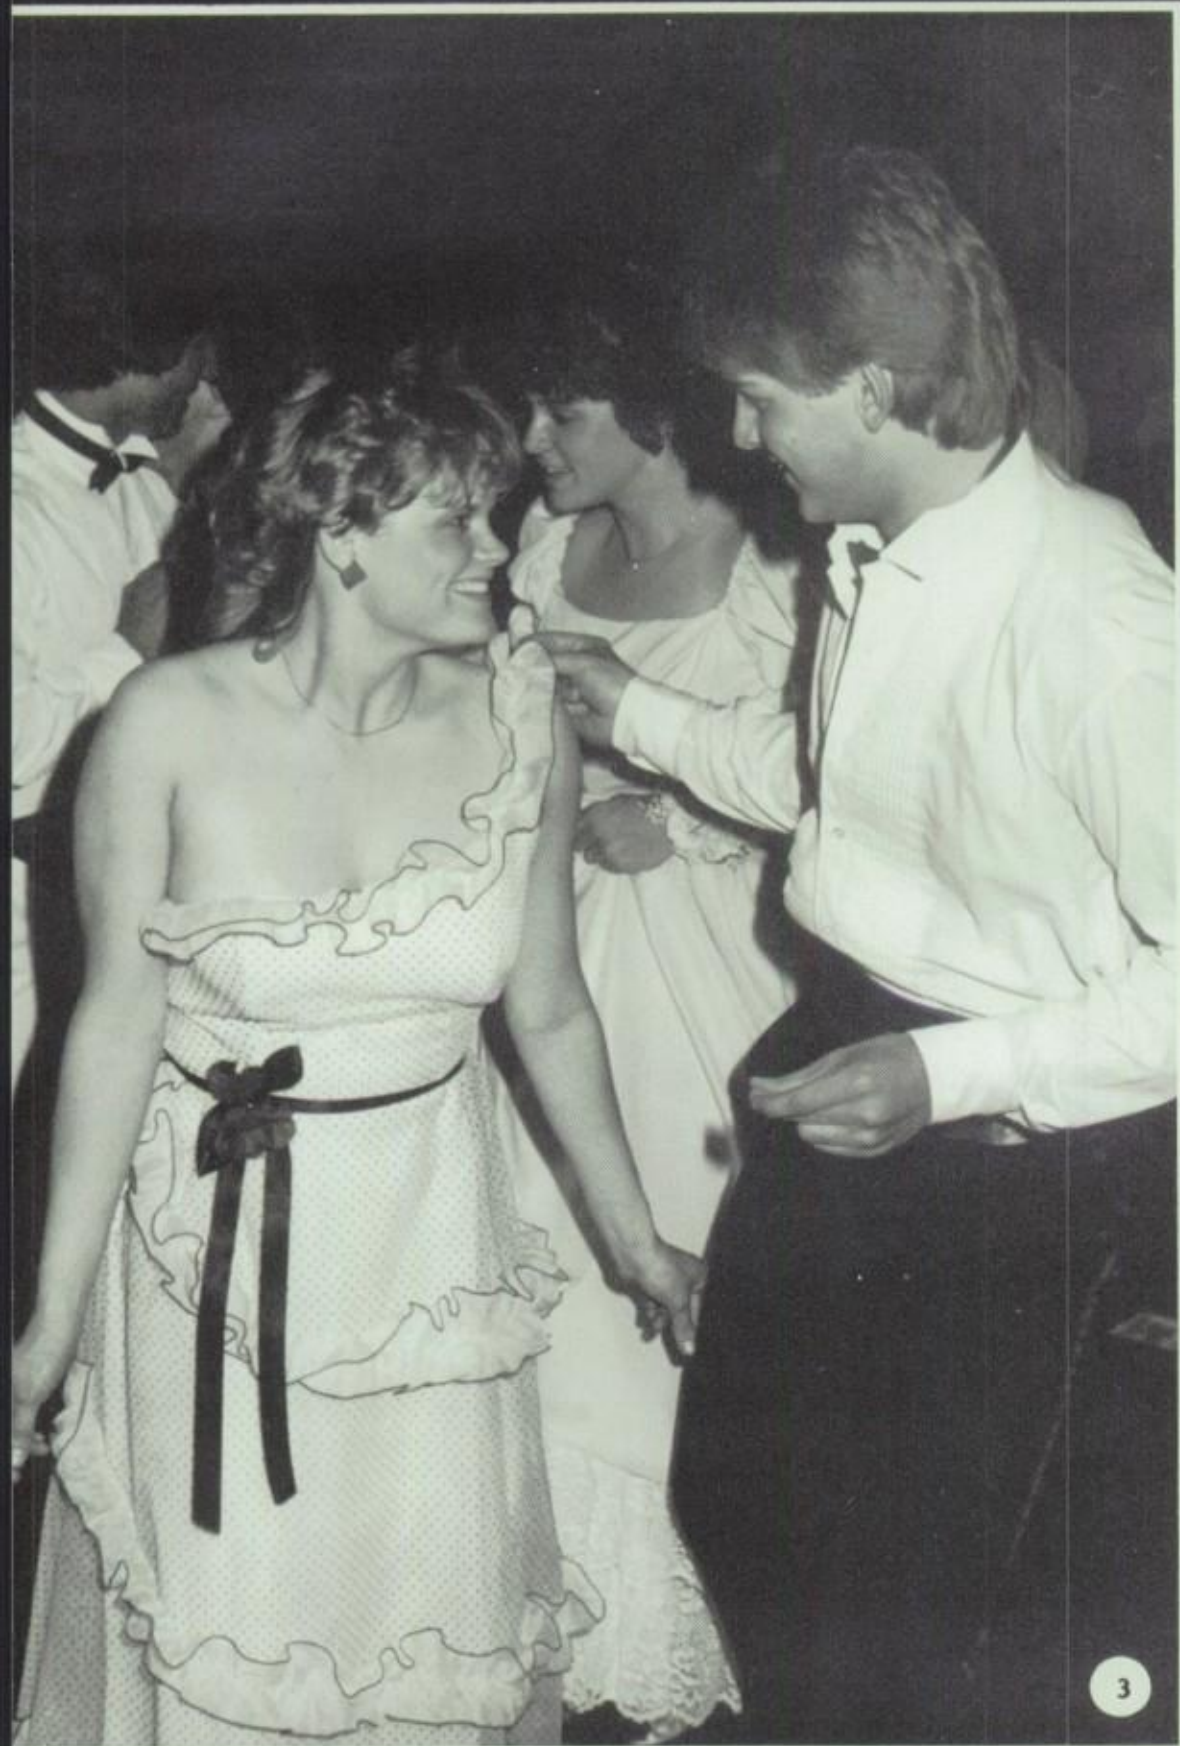

Seniors and juniors find "Heaven" at Prom

This year's Junior-Senior Prom on Friday, May 18, at the Villa Milano was a memorable evening for all the couples who attended it. The theme was "Heaven," and the Eddie Pollina Band provided the music for wild dancing and sweet romancing. This special event began at 9 p.m. and came to a conclusion at 1 a.m. Although each couple received a garter, a champagne glass with the theme printed on it, a program book, and a centerpiece, many of the girls also claimed one of the glasses used at the punch fountain.

Complimentary comments were all that were heard about this extravagant prom planned by the junior class officers, Tom Westfall, Jeff Perkins, Lisa Griffiths, and Eric Fester, and their advisor, Mrs. Rickey.

Following the prom, parents of the juniors and seniors sponsored an after-prom party in North's commons. Pizza was served early in the morning with breakfast soon after. The Music King blasted the latest hits throughout the commons while the parents bravely attempted to adjust to the volume.

1. This group of seniors enjoy the newest addition to the prom attire — the garter. Linda Rank models her garter for all her senior admirers.
2. Drew Kerkhoff searches for his ticket while Brenda Roodvoets anxiously waits to enter the prom. After handing over the ticket, they entered the beautiful ballroom where all the "action" was taking place.
3. Joan Hepperle and Kevin Wright discover an unoccupied corner on the crowded dance floor. Most of the boys, including Kevin, shed their jackets because of the heat.
4. During the hour of '50's music, John Longo and Kris Kovach try to retain their hold on the line of dancers ahead of them. Most of the couples enjoyed this switch of music.
5. Cheers! Mike Lee and Bev Meabon toast the wonderful time they are spending at the prom. Could Bev be one of the 110 who claimed one of Villa Milano's champagne glasses as her own?
6. With the prom coming to an end, Leslie Flacche and Tom Pullin link arms and make their exit. For the seniors, the conclusion of this event was very emotional.

Shaving cream creates a whiteout at Senior Picnic

The Senior Picnic culminated a strenuous year for Westerville North's Class of 84. The picnic was held at Blendon Woods on Friday, June 1, a warm and sunny day. The morning began with games of soccer, football, and frisbee to help the seniors unwind from the tension of studying for final exams. Steaks, hotdogs, and hamburgers were then grilled to help satisfy the hungry appetites. After everyone finished eating, countless numbers of aerosol cans of shaving cream mysteriously appeared, and soon most of the seniors were completely covered with the white foam. The clean-up was aided by a water balloon fight.

The picnic provided the soon-to-be graduates with a final day to relax and enjoy each others' company before departing for their separate ways.

1. No, these two are not aliens from outer space — just Lee Baughman and Hans Andersson after the massive shaving cream fight.
2. A few seniors, including Keith Cox, choose not to over-exert themselves with any sport other than sleeping.
3. Jimmy Goodykoontz, Tom Fogel, Phil Arnold, and Dave Collin listen to the stereo system which Jimmy brought to provide the park with Dolby Sound.
4. Kathy Freeman vainly attempts to explain the intricate details of a game called "Spud" to her teasing friends.
5. Mr. McCann and Barb Keefer reminisce about the "good ole days" when Barb was a freshman.
6. Even at the age of 18, little Michelle Myers still cannot seem to get her end of the teeter-totter to touch the ground.
7. Mr. Randolph enjoys his favorite pastime — keeping company with senior girls.

Commencement 1984 is a new beginning

The one and a half hour-long graduation ceremony was a very memorable event for the Class of 84. Commencement, June 9, was the conclusion of the seniors' high school career, and most felt a big nostalgic, remembering the four years that had passed so quickly.

Jim Davidson and Leslee Warren were the class speakers and expressed their own re-memberances and prophesies of the past and future. After Mr. Whitaker praised the class for their unity and many accolades, diplomas were presented by Mr. McCann and Mr. Justice.

As the class celebrated by tossing their mortar boards into the air, many cheered in relief, some were sad, but almost all exclaimed, "I can't believe it's over!"

1. Monica Tyser patiently waits for Leslie Joseph to bobby pin her mortar board. The senior guys were less fortunate and had to hold on to their hats throughout the procession because of the strong winds.
2. Julie Ellis and Brenda Roodvoets spend the last few minutes with each other before departing the gymnasium for the football stadium. All of the seniors met in the gym at 5 p.m. to be together as a class for one last time.
3. "It's all over!" Danny Gifford exclaims to Paige Rathke. Although these two were on opposite sides of the seating arrangement, they seemed to eventually find their way to wish each other good fortune.
4. Hans Andersson is proud to receive an American diploma as a foreign exchange student from Sweden. As one of the first ten seniors to receive his diploma, Hans is aware of the anxiety that exists in the line behind him.
5. Jim Davidson speaks about the future in which all the seniors will encounter many challenges but none they cannot overcome. Jim will matriculate to Ohio State with a full scholarship and face many of these challenges.
6. Mr. Whitaker reminisces about the unity the seniors possessed throughout their years at North before presenting the Class of 1984 to Mr. Tom Fawcett, a member of the Westerville Board of Education.

Thirty Cheerleaders were selected in November for the 83-84 basketball season. As well as performing at the games, the girls made goodies and cards for the basketball players and coaches every week. At Christmas time the Varsity and JV Cheerleaders served as Santa Belles to help benefit Secret Santa.

The three squads participated in a statewide Cheerleading competition at Dublin High School in February. The Freshman Cheerleaders took first place and received a spirit award for their exciting performance. The Varsity and Junior Varsity Cheerleaders also won first place in their respective divisions.

At the 16th annual Franklin Heights competition, the Freshman squad placed first in the junior high and ninth grade competition. The combined JV and Varsity squad took first in the open division. The JV's placed second in the pom pom division, while the Varsity placed sixth.

The Warrior Girls Basketball team, under the direction of first-year girls coach Mr. Randolph, completed a productive season, compiling an overall record of 16-7. The Lady Warriors placed a strong second in the O.C.C with a record of 10-4. Coach Randolph boasted, "It was a privilege to work with such a fine group of young ladies."

Mr. Smith, who volunteered to assist the Varsity, added, "Coaching the girls was a very enjoyable and satisfying experience."

The Varsity was led by senior captains Cassie Baughman, Shelly Harness, Lesley Ike and Katie Porter. Katie earned the Warrior MVP while Lesley and Junior Teresa Morris received the Coaches Award. Junior Sandy Neff earned the award of Most Improved Player.

The JV team improved during the season, compiling a record of 8-11.

This year the Warrior Wrestling Team was a very young team consisting of only nine juniors and seniors. Although the Warriors lacked upperclassman experience, the team pulled together to finish the season with an even record of 11-11. The team placed a respectable 7th in Central Ohio. The Warriors had a winning dual meet record of 9-4, and finished 3rd in the All-North Tournament.

At the post-season banquet which was held in the school's commons on March 28, many individuals were honored for their outstanding contributions to the team. Senior co-captain Mike Lee was named to the 1st Team All-O.C.C. along with sophomore teammate Steve Schwartz. Steve also represented Westerville North at the State Competition.

The Westerville North Boys Swim team, coached by Monty Hopkins, had an outstanding season. The team placed sixteenth at the State Championships and fourth at the Central District Championship, and they broke seven out of ten school records. Coach Hopkins commented, "It is in the Championship season that the true measure of swimming performance is made, and it is in the championship season that this year, the Warrior Swim team responded with 100%. The season's best swims were at the district championship."

Brent Axline placed third at the State meet in the 100

Breaststroke and ninth in the 200 Freestyle. At the district meet he placed first in the 100 Breaststroke, and he set five school records throughout the season. Jim Chmielewski placed eleventh at the district meet in the 500 Freestyle. Captain Jeff Perkins placed fourteenth at the State meet in the 200 individual medley and fifth in the 100 Breaststroke at the district meet. He also broke two school records this season. Jeff said "It was a great season. The whole team performed well. Hopefully now swimming will start to get some respect at Westerville North."

The 1983-84 Girls Swim team, coached by Tim Loehr, had a record breaking season. Their dual meet record was 5-3, while their invitational results were first place at the Delaware Invitational and seventh place at the Orange Invitational. Two relay teams qualified for the State Championship: the 200 Medley relay team of Cheryl Bevan, Beth Irminger, Kim McCauley, and Lisa Billhardt, and the 400 Freestyle relay team of Lisa Billhardt, Beth Irminger, Kim Bainter, and Cheryl Bevan who placed twelfth in the state finals.

Many school records were broken during the season. Cheryl Bevan, Beth Irminger, Kim McCauley, and Lisa Billhardt set a record for the 200 Medley relay; Lisa Billhardt for the 200 Freestyle; Kim McCauley for the 100 Butterfly; Kim Bainter for the 200 I.M. Cheryl Bevan for the 50 Freestyle; Lisa Billhardt for the 100 Freestyle and 500 Freestyle; Cheryl Bevan for the 100 Backstroke; and Lisa Billhardt, Beth Irminger, Kim Bainter, and Cheryl Bevan for the 400 Freestyle relay. The swim team was led by captains Kris Callaghan and Kim Bainter.

Kim remarked, "We worked really hard this year and had a lot more practice time. It all paid off, and we still managed to have a lot of fun."

The 1984 Varsity Boys Track team started practices in early March preparing for the tough season ahead. Even though the coaches considered this a rebuilding year for the young Warriors the team finished second in the O.C.C. The Varsity team had a very good dual meet record of 6 wins and only 1 loss. The team also had a terrific invitational record placing first at the Gahanna Relays, Worthington Relays, and Mt. Vernon Relays. The Newark Invitational was the only invitational the team lost this season. The Westerville North Track team had many outstanding athletes represent it at the State meet. The Freshmen Boys Track team also had a very good season. The freshmen ended the season with four wins, two losses and one tie. The freshmen Warriors were runner-up at the Worthington Invitational. "Both of the teams this year were extremely talented and I am expected good things from them next year," commented Coach Cavins on this year's team.

Under the direction of new head coach Steve Kull the Girls Track team had a very respectable season. The Lady Warriors finished the 1984 season schedule five wins and two losses in league competition. At the Gahanna Relays the girls placed second and at the Yellow Jacket Relays the girls finished third. At the O.C.C. meet in May the Westerville North Girls Track team got second place. The ladies had very talented athletes who represented the team at the State meet. The team was led by four experienced captains: Senior Shelly Harness, Sue Dubenion, and Kelly McMeekin and junior DeeDee Diersing. Over the course of the season Sue Dubenion broke the state record for the 300 meter low hurdles with a blazing time of 47.2 seconds. "Coach Kull was a real bonus to the team, I feel all the girls benefitted from his coaching," remarked senior Sue Dubenion about the teams' new coach.

ORGANIZATIONS

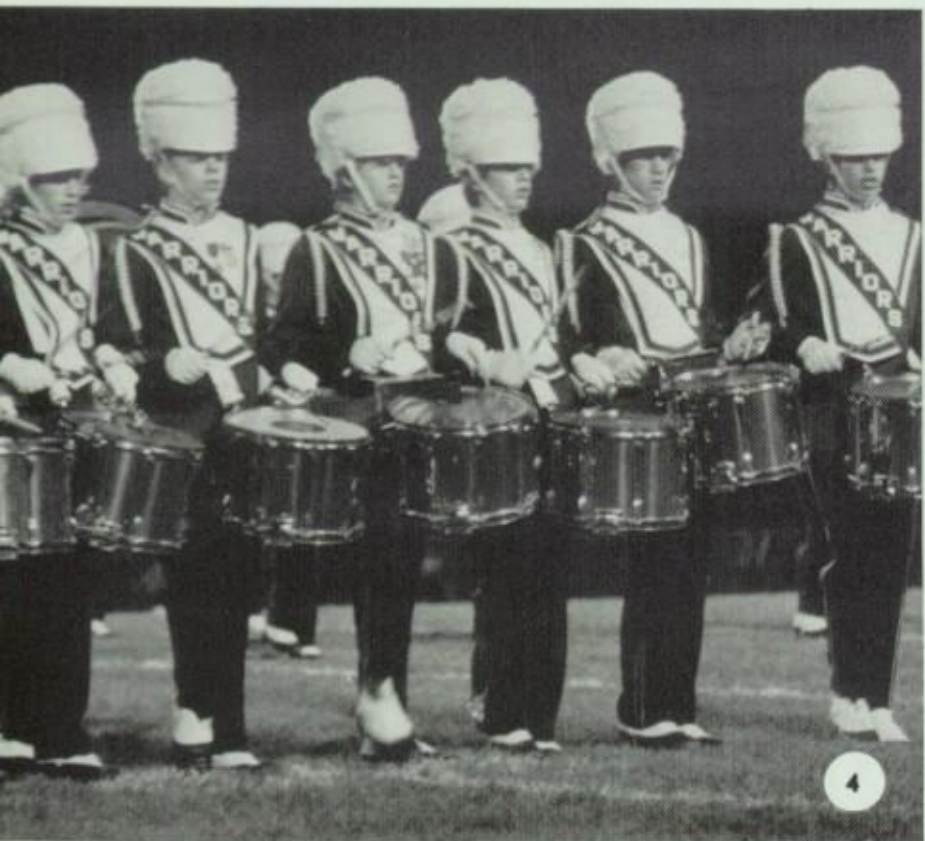

Marching Band rouses . . .

The proud 128 members of the Westerville North Marching Band, which is made up of seven instrumental sections, entertained at many events during the year. The year started in mid-August with a week and a half of band camp. In this specialized camp, band members learned a variety of shows and marching steps which were performed at our football games. During Tag Day, on September 10, they collected funds by door-to-door soliciting in neighborhoods and from local businesses for the purchase of music, uniforms, and instruments. On November 7, the annual Marching Band banquet was held in the Westerville North commons. After the potluck dinner, awards were given out and seniors were acknowledged. The final performance was the Christmas parade in downtown Westerville on December 4, when the marching Warriors led Santa Claus to town.

1. Three's company, but clarinetist Paul Mortinger turns "Band Aide" Julie Ellis, piccolo player Mindy Knouse, and clarinetist Gina Grandominico into a happy crowd.
2. The melody from Shelly Strosky's piccolo floats through the air as the Drill Team performs to "Walk Right In."
3. Steve Riley stands out from the crowd while playing "One Voice" on his French horn.
4. Mark Neff, Don Montgomery, Scott Houston, Mike Elleman, Rick Miller, and Jason Monsul are North's coordinated percussionists.
5. Beth Sweeney, Karen Ballard, and Laura Croy enjoy a few laughs before the halftime show.
6. Jeff Millican ignores the hustle-bustle of the band room as he prepares for the frigid temperatures outside.
7. The Warrior band captures the crowd's attention with another dazzling halftime show.

8. Dave Roberts, a regular soloist for the band, conquers another difficult piece of music.
9. Row 1: Mr. Horch (director), M. Knouse, K. Kellam, L. Croy, K. Hoffman, D. Freeman, V. Jewett, L. Ellis, P. Johansen, Mr. Lehman (assistant). Row 2: S. Lefferts, D. Rako, W. Spangler, B. Drill team adds sparkle

With sparkling maroon and gold apparel, the Westerville North Drill Team kicked off the 83-84 season with the dance routine called "The Kicker." In addition to appearances here at North, they performed at Otterbein College at a few of their athletic games. The Lefferts twins, Leigh and Stacy, were Captain and First Lieutenant respectively. It was obvious that school spirit, hard work, and devotion were many factors in the success achieved by the Westerville North Drill Team.

1. North's spirited Drill Team takes a break from cheering for the Warrior football team.
2. It takes more than rain and mud to remove the winning smile from Heather Reed's face.
3. Cindy Harroun is showing us the results of the Drill Team's hard work as she ends the routine with this snazzy step.
4. Practice pays off for this Drill Team duo, Jill Carpenter and Lori Gosnell, as they perform at halftime.
5. Front: T. Glara, H. Reed, S. Lefferts, L. Lefferts, C. Harris, J. Carpenter. Row 2: C. Harroun, J. Snell, M. Enz, P. Borden, L. Gosnell, A. Moore. Row 3: G. Lee, D. Hoyer, J. Wilkins, J. Marshall, M. Wilkinson, S. Warner, H. Schultz.

In a four-day camp at Otterbein Moffet Clinic, the Westerville North Flag Corps learned new and stylish moves. In addition to adding sparkle to the Warrior Band during football games, the Flags also marched in the Christmas and Fourth of July parades. Captain Erin O'Donnell and First Lieutenant Cindy Carroll were the leaders of the Corps in their many routines.

1. The Flag Corps adds color and magic to the football halftime shows.
2. Captain Erin O'Donnell's dedication and hard work is rewarded by the applause of the spectators.
3. Standing at attention with military precision is Flag Corps duo, Erin O'Donnell, captain, and Cindy Carroll, first lieutenant.
4. Becky Dalton works on the finale, a showy routine with streamers.

Strings get new director

Under the new leadership of Miss Clauer, the orchestra had many performances this year including the homecoming assembly and the fall, winter and spring concerts. They entered the OMEA contest in January and received a rating of III. Members of the pit orchestra devoted a lot of extra time and energy preparing for that American musical classic, "Oklahoma!" which was presented in March.

Riley, S. Bow, A. Cody, L. Croy, G. Grandominco, V. Jewett, J. Mobley, E. Federspiel, K. Fitzpatrick, D. Bigony. Row 3: S. Lee, P. Baden, S. Kelso, J. Clark, L. Kenney, D. Montgomery, Miss Clauer, D. Schulz, S. Houston.
2. Members of the violin section concentrate on producing sweet mellow sounds at the winter concert at Westerville South's auditorium.

3. PIT ORCHESTRA — Row 1: E. Greenlee, D. Zinn, S. Lee, D. Schulz. Row 2: M. Knouse, B. Sweeney, K. Ballard, D. Montgomery, K. Gunderman. Row 3: S. Kelso, D. Matthews. Row 4: L. Dill, E. VanOtteren, J. Mobley, K. Fitzpatrick, L. Wilson. Row 5: C. Walters, S. Riley, L. McKiernan, L. Croy, A. Cody, S. Bow.
4. Miss Clauer smiles with pride as she takes a well-deserved bow.
5. Amy Turner displays her talent at the homecoming assembly as she plays the theme song, "Endless Love."

Westerville North has two concert bands, Cardinal Band and Gold Band, both under the directorship of Mr. Horch. Both bands performed at the fall, winter and spring concerts. In March, Cardinal Band performed at the district OMEA contest at Upper Arlington where they received a Superior I rating and the honor to participate in the state contest in May. With help from the Music Boosters, the members of the bands raised funds during Tag Day and the traditional cheese and sausage sale.

1. CARDINAL BAND — Row 1: M. Knouse, P. Johanson, E. VanOtteren, D. Linhart, D. Insul, J. Mobley, G. Grandominico. Row 2: S. Strokys, M. McKeon, L. Thomas, J. Loomis, J. Beck, L. Smith, L. Houston, J. Monsul, G. Mtakate, M. Elleman, D. Montgomery, R. Miller, Mr. Horch, D. Murphy, P. Whitney, M. Clark.
2. As a new student, Pete Lobe makes his debut at his first formal spring band concert. He accents the Cardinal Band with the strong sound of his trumpet.

3. Jason Monsul plays one of the most interesting of the percussion instruments, the orchestral bells. Jason plays this difficult instrument skillfully, keeping the beat of the song.
4. GOLD BAND — Row 1: K. McCartney, S. Williams, W. Forsythe, S. Strawser, A. Julien, J. Clark, B. Guss, K. Wallace, J. Bevan. Row 2: D. Miller, S. Kelso, J. Buff, D. Keaveney, J. Simone, S. Ensembles display talent

Two special instrumental ensembles, Jazz Band and Pep Band, were both directed by Mr. Horch. Jazz Band played songs from slow and soft to rock and jazz. This group's talents were highlighted at Booster meetings and at school concerts. They also played at Walnut Springs and Robert Frost for the middle school and elementary students to enjoy. Jazz Band was given the honor of performing at the Jazz Festival in March.

North's rowdy Pep Band played at home basketball games and could be counted on to liven up the spirit of the crowd.

1. JAZZ BAND — Row 1: C. Shearer, P. Johanson, J. Millican, S. Houston. Row 2: D. Rako, M. Croy, D. Hassebroek, M. Knouse. Row 3: Mr. Horch, E. VanOtteren, L. Dill, L. Croy, K. Kellam, D. Freeman, D. Montgomery, M. Clark. Row 4: J. Kohler, A. Cody, S. Bow, D. Zinn.
2. Andy Cody contributes to the spirit of the crowd as he trumpets the "Golden Warrior Fight Song" during a basketball game.
3. Rod White and Ellen VanOtteren study the anatomy of the clarinet.
4. Members of a Jazz Band quartet (David Zinn, Andy Cody, Steve Bow, and Joel Kohler) display their talent at the Winter Concert.
5. PEP BAND — Row 1: G. Mtakate, C. Shearer, D. Hassebroek, M. Croy, D. Rako. Row 2: D. Bigony, J. Clark, L. Smith, L. Wilson, E. VanOtteren, M. McNeel. Row 3: S. Roser, C. Walters, A. Davis, L. Only a select few of North's students are chosen to be members of a special ensemble called Notables. Headed by Mrs. Stonebraker, this group's members used their singing and dancing talents to perform at the fall, winter and spring concerts. Notables also performed at the solo-ensemble contest in January earning a superior rating of I. The group also share their special talents with the elementary students in Westerville at Christmas festivities. Wherever Notables perform, rave reviews always follow.

1. Leslee Warren and Todd Strickland give a dynamic performance at the homecoming assembly.
2. Betsy Anderson and Robyn Gilbert practice before the spring concert in May.
3. Todd Strickland and Todd Taylor rehearse the soulful tune, "How Do You Keep The Music Playing?"
4. During a performance at Walnut Springs, Julie Ellis shares her Christmas cheer with the students.
5. NOTABLES — Row 1: R. White, B. Anderson, B. Dalton, T. Strickland, K. Kovach, S. Houston, M. Enz. Row 2: J. Croce, T. Taylor, J. Anderson, T. Strickland, A. Al, B. St. John, R. Gilbert, M. Erickson, L. Warren, R. Smith. Row 3: T. Gilmore, J. Ellis, M. Clark.

Concert Choir earns I

The highlights of the year for Girls Choir and Concert Choir were their performances at concerts and contests. Both choirs enjoyed learning seasonal songs for the Christmas concert and pop songs and dances for the spring concert which was entitled, "A Tribute to TV." In February, the choirs went to district contest where the Girls Choir received an excellent rating and the Concert Choir a superior rating. Concert Choir then advanced to the state contest in May where they earned a second superior rating.

1. Members of the Concert Choir lift up their voices during the Christmas Concert at Westerville South's auditorium.
2. Nan Weltzel enjoys being a part of the program at the Homecoming assembly.
3. Bev Meabon, Betsey Anderson, Jean Blaha, Jenny Croce, and Brooke Reed are members of the alto section of Concert Choir.
4. Monica Enz and Barb Williams wear comfortable clothes as they rehearse their part for an upcoming concert.
5. Sandra Starr prepares the bags for the candy sale to raise money for new music.
6. Colleen Gibson, Jenny Russell, Lori Miser, and Dee Dee Crabtree concentrate on getting the right sound during choir class.
7. At the Homecoming assembly, Concert Choir waits for the cue from Mrs. Stonebraker to begin singing "Truly," last year's theme song.

Skiers hit the slopes

Do you love to ski? Then you would fit right in with the ski buffs in Ski Club. The group traveled by chartered Greenlawn buses to Snowtrails Ski Lodge in Mansfield, Ohio, for six consecutive Thursday evenings. At Snowtrails, trained instructors were available to teach elementary skills to beginners and to enhance the skills of advanced skiers. Mr. Princehorn, the advisor, with help from chaperones Mr. Widder and Mr. Wolfrom, supervised the group. Steve Sladoje was elected president of the 1984 Ski Club.

1. Kelli Pinkston, Kim Johnson, Tanya VanDressek, and Leah Nelson show that it is sometimes difficult to balance on two skis. It's more fun and easier to collapse in the snow.
2. Mr. Widder and his daughter make a father and daughter team as they travel along with the Ski Club and show that skiing is for everyone.
3. Susan Buff demonstrates her personal stopping technique. Although it is quite painful, it is effective in both stopping and stretching leg muscles.
4. After receiving ski equipment, Jamie Norman waits in the midst of an excited crowd to finally escape into the frigid temps outside and hit the slopes.
5. Teresa Trumbull and Jill Sladoje are only a bit afraid about climbing the gigantic slope in a suspended ski chair lift.

6. A pair of Snowtrails rental skis lie on the beginner's slope. The lonely skis are waiting for an eager skier to recover and use them.
7. Todd Cadwell leaps down the advanced skiers' only slope at Snowtrails with skilled perfection. Is Todd training for the 1988 Winter Olympics?
8. Nancy Smith and Lisa Griffith display what buddies are for. Nancy prevents her friend from crashing into nearby evergreens by helping her stop.

Cultures studied by AFS

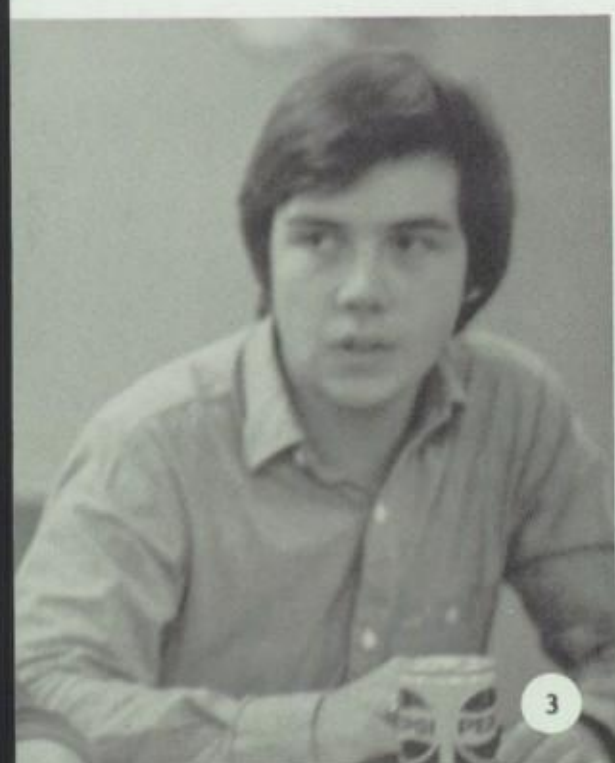

Five foreign exchange students visited Westerville North this year. Gordon Mtakate from South Africa, Fred Jacques from Belgium, and Ute Mollitor from Germany were sponsored by the A.F.S. The Rotary Club sponsored Alex Mendonca from Brazil, and the Youth for Understanding sponsored Hans Andersson from Sweden.

Under the leadership of President Kim Mills, North's A.F.S. invited all exchange students in Central Ohio to an "exchange weekend." Kim was the only student from North to take advantage of the A.F.S. program in 1983 by spending her summer in Turkey.

1. Gordon Mtakate from South Africa and Hans Andersson from Sweden learn about our American culture with the help of A.F.S. members.
2. Dave Roberts attends the A.F.S. Halloween party dressed as a Chinese farmer.
3. In regular attendance at A.F.S. meetings are Laura Wilson, Deborah Bigony, Hans Andersson, and Dan Whitney.
4. At a going-away party held in his honor, Alex Mendonca says goodbye to his American friends as he prepares to go back to his home in Brazil. Alex's visit was from January 1983 to January 1984.

The In The Know team had its most successful year. Jeff Stewart, leading scorer and three-year veteran, played an outstanding role in the team's success. The team achieved its goal — to test its members' knowledge against teams from other schools — by posting a 5-2 record. The team, advised by Mr. Kirchhoff, played the Westerville North teachers before the season started. This game prepared the team for upcoming competitions. The teachers put up a good fight but the team came out victorious.

1. Senior Jeff Stewart is the leading scorer of the In The Know team, earning 330 points during three years on the team.
2. Tom Pullin practices for the upcoming In The Know competitions.
3. In The Know member Andy Butler searches his memory to recall the correct answer to the question being asked.
4. The In The Know team battles the Westerville North teachers. Mr. Odgers tries to uphold the teachers' honors by answering correctly. The teachers played a close game but were defeated.

Thespians promote drama

Thespians is an honorary society, advised by Mr. Brown, for students with an interest in drama. In order to become a Thespian, students had to earn points by working on drama productions. They also raised money by organizing this year's Variety Show. Other events included an awards banquet in the spring, trips to local theatrical productions such as Annie, and the annual trip to New York. During the January excursion, students explored the "Big Apple" for three exciting days and four nights.

Key Club is a service group sponsored by the Kiwanis and advised by Mr. Simmons. The 34 service-minded members participated in projects to benefit charities including the Muscular Dystrophy Association and Crippled Childrens Center. Also, members visited the elderly in local nursing homes and arranged various activities such as Bingo. As a fundraiser, the Key Club sold Christmas ornaments during the holiday season.

Artists join Art Club

One of the many goals of the Art Club, a group led by Mrs. Ellis, was to educate students about art classes at North and to encourage art enrollment. To accomplish this, a campaign was launched in March which involved informative posters. Money earned from a key chain sale and other fund raisers was used to visit local art museums and exhibitions.

1. Rob Robbins very carefully creates his sketch. Rob is drawing a duplicate of a magazine picture.
2. Mrs. Ellis lectures the latest information about activities to the students.
3. Susan Dubenion and Kelly McMeekin wait for the meeting to start.
4. Monica Lewis and Steffany Hannan listen as Mrs. Ellis explains the project to increase art class enrollment.

Science Club was an interest group led by North's physics instructor Dave Weaner. The group discussed various aspects of the scientific world, and studied them extensively with experimentation. Some members, along with other students, also participated in this year's Science and Computer Fair. At the Fair, Westerville North earned nine out of ten superior awards and trophies for excellent exhibitions.

Odyssey reports WN news

The school's newspaper, the Odyssey, was published monthly with eight regular issues and a senior issue at the end of the school year. The Odyssey staff consisted of twelve Journalism I-III students who met during first period. The staff set a goal to inform and entertain North students and staff while learning journalism skills and newspaper operation. The editorial staff included Heather Schultz, editor; Carla Kirby, feature editor; Debbie Sehulster, financial manager; and Su Kilian, photography editor.

1. Eileen Murphy and Darren Hamilton tackle the chore of proofreading ad copy on camera-ready layout sheets.
2. Lisa Holewinski checks in the AP handbook for copy style. Lisa, a first year member of the staff, also doubles as a photographer for the Odyssey.
3. Mrs. Noll reads the students' stories before giving her "OK." Mrs. Noll has been the advisor for the Odyssey since its beginning in 1975.

5. Heather Schultz and Carla Kirby paste up final copy in a last minute rush before deadline.

The Golden Warrior gained a new look this year. On the new suede cover is a gold metalay crest designed especially for Westerville North by Tim Pavuk. The crest will be used in future years to give the Golden Warrior a unique identity.

Co-Editors Diane Anderson and Susie Freeburn helped the rest of the staff meet its deadlines, and Michelle Thomas handled the business chores. A new section, Honors, was added to feature the outstanding achievements of North students.

4. Leslie Joseph distributes assignments among her fellow photographers.
5. Katie Porter, sports editor, checks the calendar for the next deadline as she types some copy for the football pages.

Yearbook gets new look

Student Council combines activities

The Student Council consisted of 32 representatives, four officers, and the advisor, Mr. Prenoveau. The representatives were elected at the end of last year by their respective classes. Their duties included keeping the student body informed about all activities and plans of the Student Council. The officers were Julie Ellis, president, Mindy Knouse, vice-president, Julie Carpenter, secretary, and Steve Lee, treasurer.

This year the council planned activities which united North's students with the community. A Share Project dance resulted in donations of canned goods for the needy. Admission to the dance was one dollar plus a canned good. The blood drive gave students a chance to voluntarily donate blood to the Red Cross. In seven hours, 150 pints of blood were collected. Other events sponsored by the council were the annual trip to Cedar Point, Homecoming festivities, and elections for next year.

1. Doug Owens makes his decision final to donate blood as he turns in his registration form. Julie Carpenter and Mindy Knouse prepare his bag which will then be transferred to a nurse who will take Doug's blood.
2. Susie Freeburn ties string to the posters which will be attached to the cars that will transport the Homecoming court during the pre-game ceremonies.
3. Michelle Johnson and Amy Noble, candidates for president, along with Lavonya Farrow, candidate for vice-president, wait to deliver their speeches to the student body during the election assembly. The first vote resulted in a tie for the presidency. After a second vote was taken, Amy Noble was victorious.

ACADEMICS

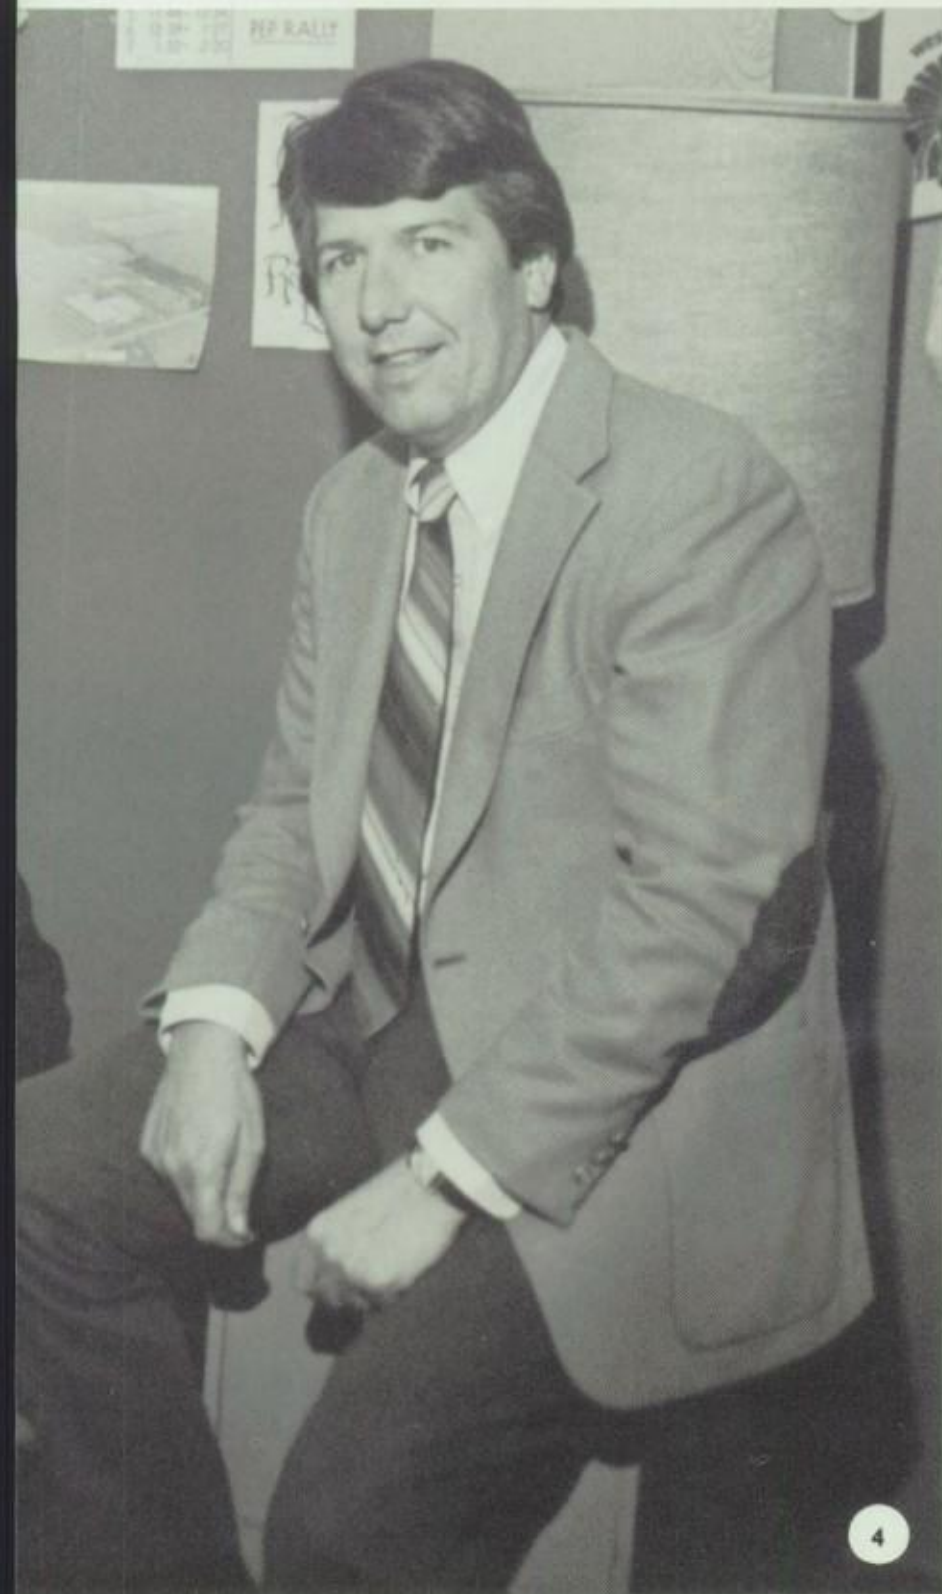

Administration leads, Guidance advises

The 1983-84 school year opened with several new policies in the administrative and guidance departments. Two of the new administrative policies were the hall pass and the new point system. With the new point system, students received points for not bringing required materials to class. Another new program was the drug intervention program which was implemented by both the administrative and guidance departments.

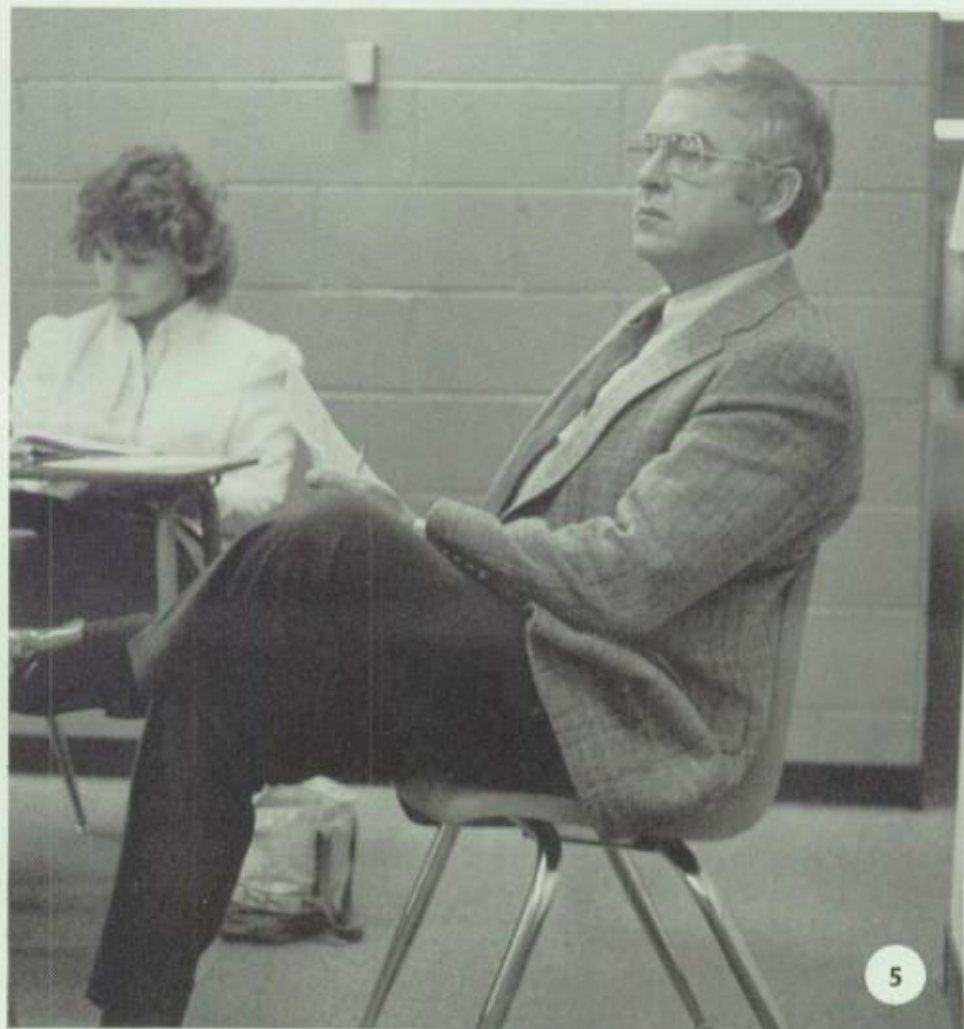

In addition to the new policies in these departments, there were new staff members. In the administrative office Mr. Justus was temporarily assigned to the central office during contract negotiations. Mr. Odgers moved from guidance to replace Mr. Justus. The vacancy in guidance was filled by Mr. Haegele. Also new to the guidance department was Mrs. Fitzpatrick who worked closely with the drug intervention program.

1. Heading up the athletic department is Athletic Director, Mr. Moore. He receives a lot of assistance from Mrs. Lewis.
2. With their unending wisdom, Mr. Whitaker, Mr. Odgers, and Mr. McCann lead the W.N.H.S. students and staff.
3. Assistant Principal J. McCann talks with a student's parents. He helps students whose last names begin with L-Z.
4. Missing from the administrative office for much of the year is Assistant Principal, Mr. Justus. He is helping with contract negotiations at the central office.
5. Principal L. Whitaker observes a class. This is just one of his many duties around the school.
6. GUIDANCE — Gloria Fitzpatrick, Rick Odgers, Rich Smith, Jill Daniels (department head), Bob Haegele.
7. Mr. Smith and Mrs. Wood help students with their PSAT test results. Mr. Smith is the head of college information in the guidance dept.

Board, nurse, tutors, librarians support WN

1. SCHOOL NURSE — Roberta Brady. As a school nurse Mrs. Brady has many duties, including helping students who, during the course of the day, become ill, like Kara Putinsky. Mrs. Brady also serves as nurse to two other Westerville schools.
2. Mrs. Gilbert, "Captain of the Media," runs a tight ship. She and her husband own a magazine store in Delaware known as the News Shop Inc. The store provides the "stripped" magazines for the open shelf in the library.
3. As a tutor, Cary Roe helps students who have problems in any academic area. She is a substitute tutor during Mrs. Bartelt's maternity leave. Here she lends assistance to freshman Lori Moore.

1. EXCEPTIONAL EDUCATION — Charlae Bartelt (S.L.D. tutor); Lori Storer (S.L.D. Resource Teacher); Ellen Hart (S.L.D. Resource Teacher). The exceptional education teachers provide extra help for students with learning problems.
2. BOARD OF EDUCATION — Debbie Collins, Don W. Miller, Dave Coffman, Superintendent Tom Dickson, Gary Holdren, and Tom Fawcett.
3. MEDIA CENTER — Donna Gilbert (Media Specialist); Gerald Blankes-tyn (Audio/Video Specialist). The media center, otherwise known as the library, is a place for students and staff to find reference material for classes and reading material for enjoyment.
4. Betsy Chopes gives students the extra boost they need in their academic work with individualized tutoring. She is a first year staff member at North.

English is the name, language is the game

The English department offered a variety of classes during the 1983-84 year. Choices ranged from Mythology and Science Fiction to Bible as Lit, and from Pre-College Reading and Research to Modern Childrens Lit. Many of the classes were taught by dual teams of teachers, a largely practiced technique in the English department.

Not only were the course offerings diverse, but so were the teachers. They demonstrated their flexibility when last minute schedule changes had to be made to cover the maternity leaves of two teachers. As department chairperson, Karen Harper said, "For there being so many of us in the department, we really share and work well together."

1. Mr. Prenoveau wants to know what mischievousness is going on in his American Lit class. He is not only an English teacher, but he is also the advisor for Student Council and the coach of the Girls JV Basketball team.
2. Mrs. Schmarr gets a kick out of a student's answer. In addition to her teaching assignments, she found time to help proof-read the yearbook.
3. Andy Butler begs for forgiveness as he forgets his lines. He is another victim of Alice in Wonderland, a story studied in Brit. Lit.
4. Mrs. Bulthaupt consults Katrina Kibler on the value of taking Writer's Workshop. Sometimes even Mrs. Bulthaupt wonders if all the hard work is worth it.
5. ENGLISH — Row 1: Andre Prenoveau (Mystery/Sci Fi, American Lit), Chris Willmore (Basic Comp & Lit, Creative Writing, American Lit, Cinema/Drama). Row 2: Vicky Schmarr (Eng. 9, Reading Lab), Paula Stenger (Eng. 9, Writer's Workshop), Elaine Bradley (Eng. 9, Writer's Workshop). Row 3: George DeNino (Eng. 9), Carla Noll (Journalism I & II, Career Comm., Coping/College, Basic Comp & Lit), Barbara Bulthaupt (American Lit, Writer's Workshop, Pre-College Reading/Research). Row 4: Susan Stegner (Eng. 9, Writer's Workshop), Tim Brown (Basic Comm., American Lit, Intro the Theatre, Drama, Basic Comp & Lit, Oral Comm.), Karen Harper (Bible as Lit, Coping/College, Eng. Lit, Writer's Workshop).
6. Mr. Willmore delights his class with the reading of a story. He contributed to the 1984 yearbook by helping with the photographing of the color candids in the senior section.

Math tutoring helps pupils improve skills.

The math department introduced two new policies this year; both provided additional services to students. Math tutoring was offered during both lunch periods by all the math teachers. Also, students could use the computer room during their lunch periods.

Continuing to fulfill students' needs, Basic College Preparatory Math was again offered this year to seniors who have traditionally had difficulty with math. Westerville North was one of several central Ohio schools offering this experimental course developed by OSU.

The department gained a new teacher, Mr. Hoover, who also coached the Varsity Basketball team.

1. Phil Arnold, Jimmy Goodykoontz, Joe Sylvester, Jeff Shinn, Mike Baur, and Ricky Kitchen attempt to entertain their computer math class with their acrobatics.
2. Mrs. Curtin fits back into her busy schedule with ease as she teaches her Pre-algebra and Algebra II students. Mrs. Curtin has been absent from WNHS since last spring when she left to have her baby girl.
3. Diane Morse works diligently on her Basic College Preparatory Math to prepare for college entrance exams.
4. MATH — Row 1: Diane Snouffer (Basic College Preparatory Math, Algebra II), Mike Perkins (Computer Math, Probability and Statistics, Algebra I), Row 2: Bill Brockman (Algebra I), Don Love (General Math I and II, Calculus), Ellen Kidwell (Pre-Algebra, Algebra II), Row 3: Dave Widder (Unified Geometry, Algebra I), Don Harris (Pre-Algebra, Unified Geometry), Dave Hoover (Plane Geometry, Algebra II), Ron Schwerin (Elementary Algebra I, Unified Geometry), Bob Hindman (Pre-Algebra, Algebra III). Not pictured: Loraine Curtin (Pre-Algebra, Algebra II).
5. In addition to teaching WNHS students pre-algebra and Algebra III all day, Mr. Hindman also works at the scoring table for all home basketball games.
6. Mr. Harris enthalls his unified geometry pupils with another lecture on secants and tangents, a necessary concept before advancing to Algebra II.
7. Mr. Perkins assists Chris Collins with his computer math project. Mr. Perkins is excited about receiving new equipment that will enable more students to learn about computers.

Science classes make good use of land lab

The science department experienced four additional changes. New textbooks altered the sequence in which subjects needed to be taught. The botany classes built a herbarium, enabling students to study various plants at the Larimore Land Lab. All the science classes constructed units for the land lab which could be done in fall, winter, and spring. Finally, Mr. Alexander became a WN teacher, teaching introductory science and biology. The department and its students again sold cider this year to raise money for the purchase of science materials.

2. Mindy Drayer and Callie Seibert enjoy an expedition at the Larimore Land Lab. Many science classes at WN take advantage of the land lab for outdoor nature study.
3. Tracy Neal phones Mr. Avagadro on the mole hotline to receive help with her mole problems. This invention was conceived by Mr. Wiegman to assist students in understanding moles.
4. Mr. McKay's freshman physical science class listens attentively to an explanation of the pendulum process before their lab begins.
5. SCIENCE HELPERS — Row 1: J. Crider, T. Simpkins, J. Stewart, M. Wagner, K. Miser. Row 2: P. Arnold, C. DeVoe, M. Heilman, S. Grant, A. Dorsten, M. Brettin. Row 3: S. Hanson, S. McCafferty, J. Hartsough.
6. These advanced health students study the remains of their cat specimen. Advanced health is an elective for students who plan on a career in science or medicine.
7. Mr. Weaner explains the procedure for an important lab with Mia Lanzador. Mr. Weaner also teaches advanced physics to students who show an exceptionally high interest in physics.

Carpenter outstanding WN science student

Senior Julie Carpenter earned the respect of scientists throughout the country with her project on the "Prediction of Waiting Periods Necessary for Safe Consumption of Major Food Producing Crops in the Immediate Area of a Nuclear Blast." She attempted to determine the extent of the waiting period necessary to safely grow and consume three of Ohio's major food crops, wheat, corn, and soybeans, after the "surface burst" of a nuclear blast. She received first place advanced to the Central District Science Fair where she earned a superior rating and advancement to the State Science Fair. Other awards Julie received were the Cincinnati Radiological Society's Science Student of the Year, and an award from M.I.T. as the most creative science project in the central district fair. Her final goal for the project this year was to make it to the International Science Fair held in Columbus in May and sponsored by Battelle. The project has also helped Julie earn a scholarship to OSU where she will study nuclear engineering.

1. Julie Carpenter sits in front of the display of her award winning project. The project was titled "Prediction of Waiting Periods Necessary for Safe Consumption of Major Food Producing Crops in the Immediate Area of a Nuclear Blast." Much of the research for her project required the use of the nuclear lab and reactor at O.S.U.
2. Mark Wagner and Julie Carpenter work on discovering the math-physics relationships which control the nucleus of atoms. These lab exercises illustrate the basic principles guiding the rapidly expanding area of nuclear science. To complete the project, Julie learned many of the background principles on everything from nuclear radiation to the intake of nutrients by crops.

Marine Biology is a Bahamian adventure.

The 1983 trip to Andros Island marked the fifth consecutive year of the Marine and Insular Biology program at North. The program started in February with weekly classes and culminated with a seven-day field trip to Andros Island, Bahamas. The twenty-four specially selected students from Westerville North and South High Schools spent time on land observing the native terrestrial life and time in the water observing marine life. Although a lot of work was involved, the students agreed they enjoyed the trip and its memorable learning experiences. Instructors for the course were Doug Wynn, Irv Christenson, Bill Resch and a special instructor, Barry Valintine, an OSU professor.

1. Leslie Joseph demonstrates her technique for testing fresh coconuts for ripeness. On the island many fresh native fruits are enjoyed by the students. Billy Resch looks on with sheer amazement.
2. Scott Cozzolino and Jim Malek use a seine in the mangrove trees near the field station. As second year students, they had to do an intense study of the topics of their choice. Scott is studying the territoriality of the Damselfish and Jim is studying the population of different species in the mangrove area.
3. Tanya VanDrasek and Kelly Karshner try to find some enjoyment during one of the long, bumpy rides on the field station truck. The truck is used for trips to different places that can't be reached by water.
4. Jeff Jenkins shows off a prized specimen he found at Sunset Beach. All first year students are required to make a collection out of shells, coral fragments and photographs for part of their grade.

Funds raised for Statue of Liberty

The social studies department offers a wide variety of courses. Students study areas from the beginning of time to present day and can expect to analyze the problems that occur in the changing world.

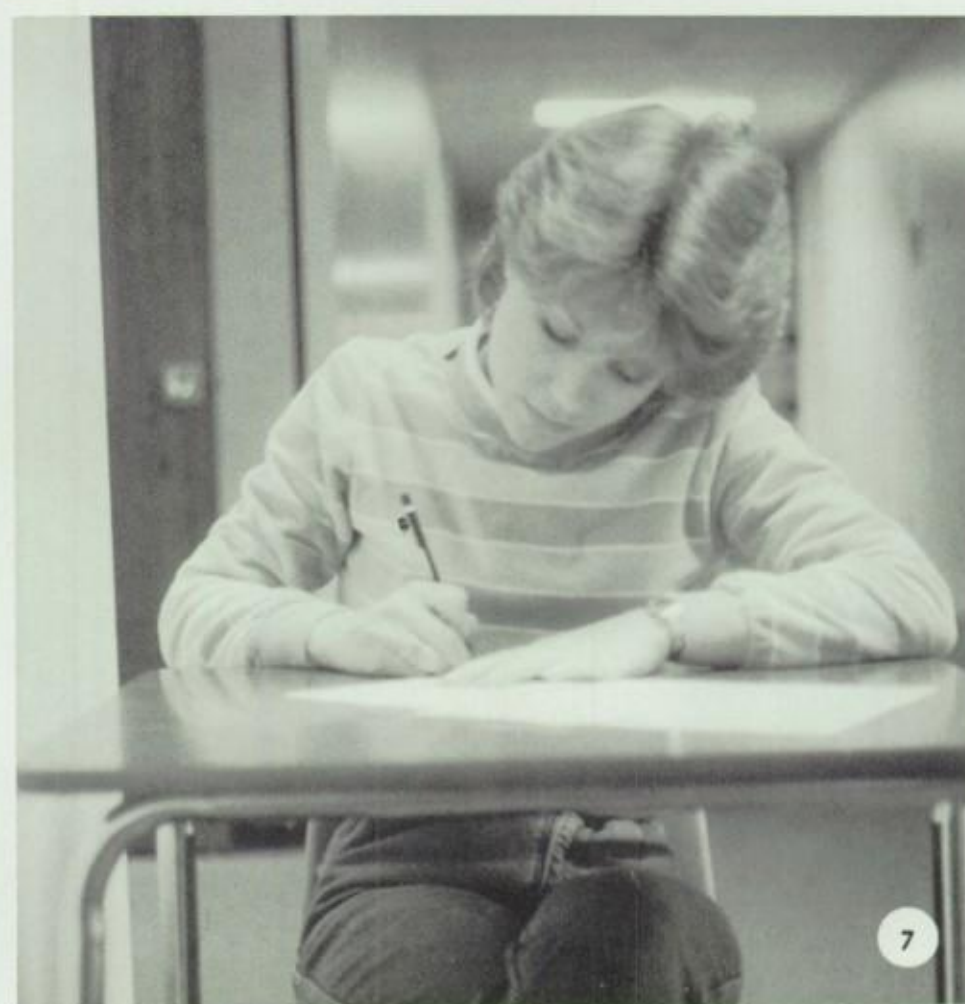

Mrs. Yoder's western civilization classes enjoyed a typical dinner of the medieval times. The students made all the food and watched a performance of jousts, symbolic of that time.

The American history classes raised $928.60 for the restoration of the Statue of Liberty. Mrs. Watkin's first period class succeeded in raising the highest amount of money for the restoration.

1. SOCIAL STUDIES — Row 1: Teresa Watkins (American History, Sociology), Les Randolph (Modern European History, Western Civilization, American Government), Heidi Yoder (American History, Western Civilization). Row 2: Harding Kirchhoff (American History, Early Civilization), Mark Princehorn (American Government, World Geography), Dave Wolfrom (World Affairs, American Problems), Tim Loehr (American History, American Problems). Not pictured: Dick DeBrosse (American Government, American Problems).
2. Don Foukal and Cindy Buckley experience peace and quiet during a relaxation test in psychology. The psychology students concluded their unit on stress and relaxation by conducting this experiment.
3. Mr. Kirchhoff, Valerie Rockwell, and Dan Malek are engrossed in a deep discussion on the causes of World War II. American History is a required class for all juniors.
4. Dennis Peoples imagines what it was like to be an explorer as he works on his American History project.
5. Hoping to finish her assignment before the end of the period, Rosalyn Lewis uses the world globe to find the correct answers to her questions.
6. Mr. Randolph graciously accepts Heather Schultz's request for the next dance. Mr. Randolph was one of the many teachers to chaperone the Homecoming Dance.
7. Absent the day of the test, Becky Dalton promptly makes up her American government test. Becky is very conscious of her grade since all seniors are required to pass American Government for graduation.

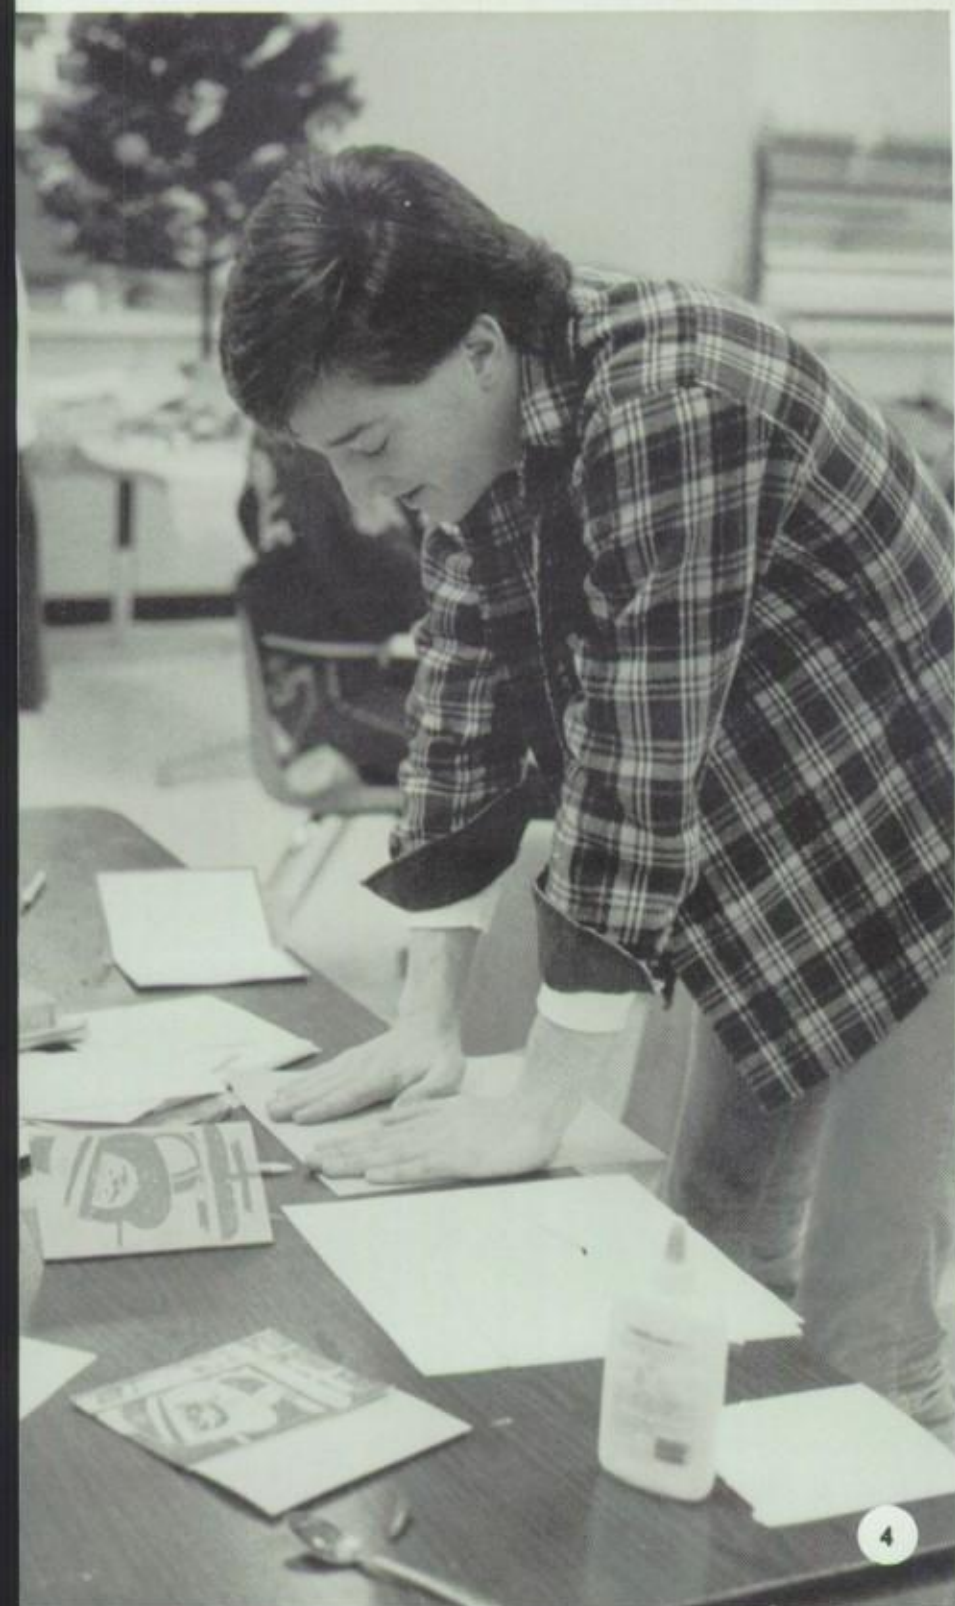

Phys Ed, Music, Art promote creativity

There were many activities going on in the physical education, music, and art departments this year. Early in the school year, the art classes conducted a conceptual art experiment which Mrs. Ellis declared a huge success because the whole school got involved. "I believe everyone is creative," commented Mrs. Ellis. "Each person just has to find his or her own area of skill."

The physical education department gained a new teacher, Mr. Amstutz. Also, a new course, called Conditioning for Life, was added to the department in which the students created their own programs to help them learn better health habits and better habits of exercising.

A new orchestra teacher, Ms. Clauer, joined the music staff this year. The music department was again very busy with their candy, cheese, and sausage sale to raise money for new music and contest fees. Specially selected students participated in the OMEA Solo and Ensemble Contest in February. Long hours of rehearsal contributed to the enthusiastic reception of the Christmas and Spring concerts by the audiences.

1. Angie Dillion and Kelly McCue battle for possession of the hockey puck. The two freshmen are enjoying their first semester of gym and are looking forward to their second.
2. Mike Lee demonstrates the proper technique for rope climbing to a physical education class. He also uses his excellent skills of agility and quickness for wrestling.
3. Ms. Clauer directs the orchestra in a practice with the Girls Choir and Concert Choir for the Christmas concert. She is directing a song titled "Many Moods Medley."
4. Bob Fradette is busy making a linoleum cut for art foundations. He used this process to make Christmas cards for all his friends.
5. Physical Education — Chuck Amstutz (Health, Physical Education I and II), Cheryl Ellzey (Girls Physical Education I and II), and Bob Cavin (Boys Physical Education I and II).
6. Music and Art — Joyce Stonebraker (Girls Choir, Concert Choir), Yvonne Clauer (Orchestra), Roxanne Ellis (Art Foundations, Photography I and II, Drawing I and II), and Phil Horch (Band).
7. Don Montgomery intently studies his music. He wants to make his performance error free.

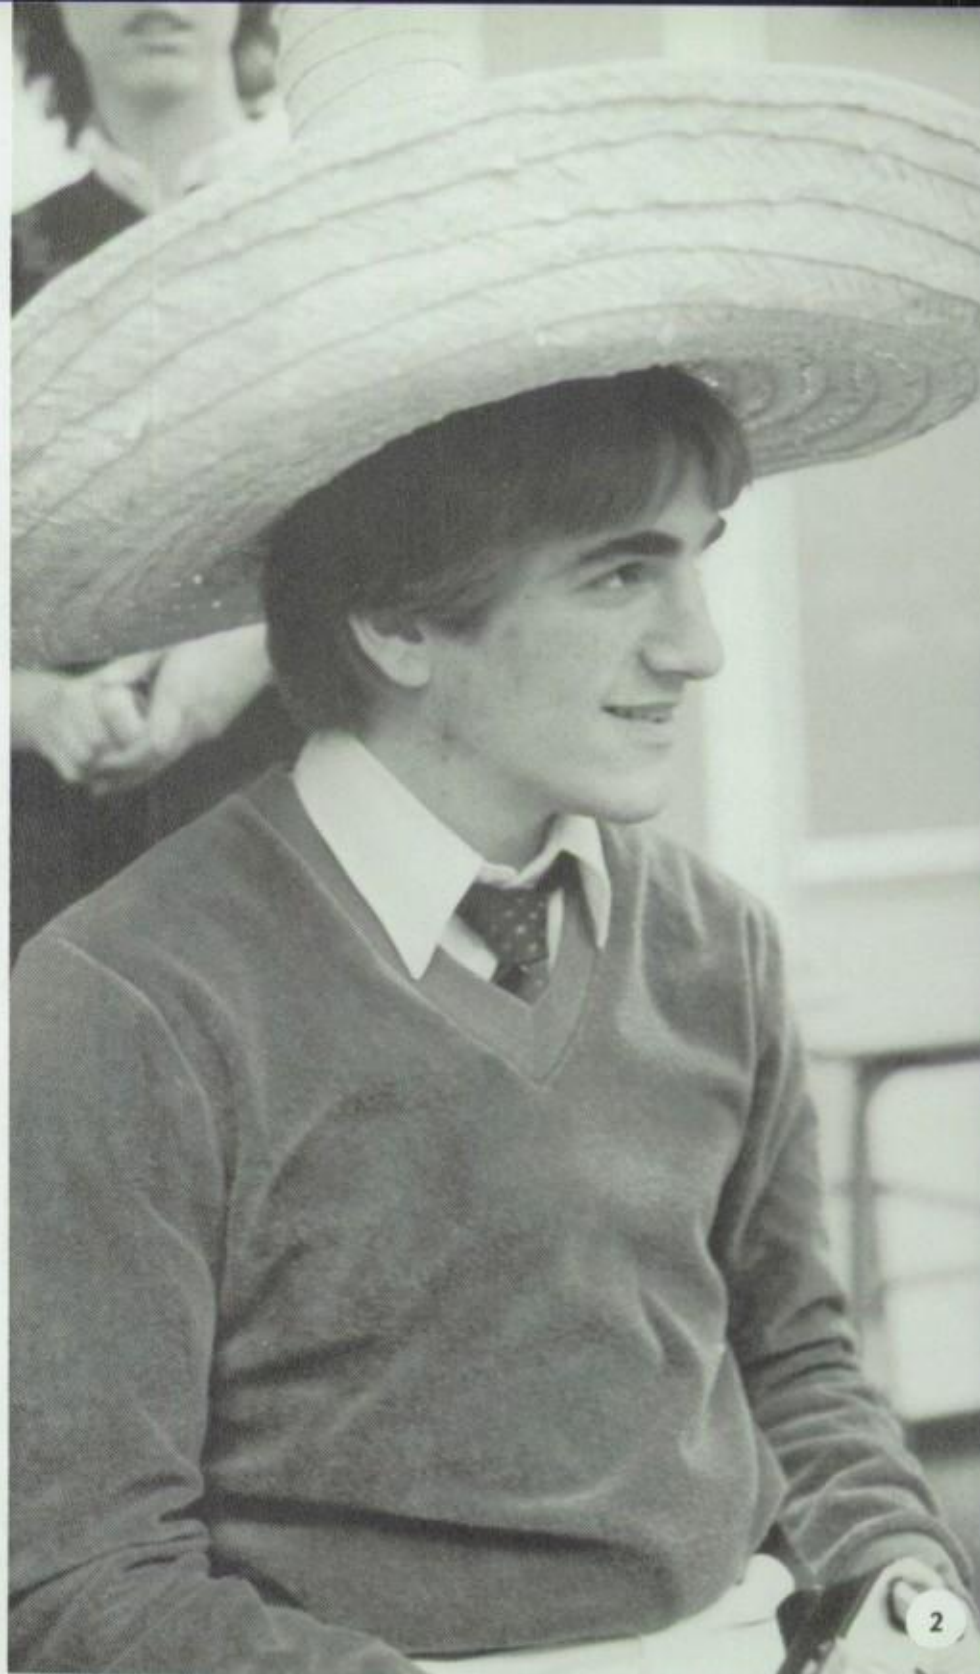

Foreign language department welcomes Mrs. Seils

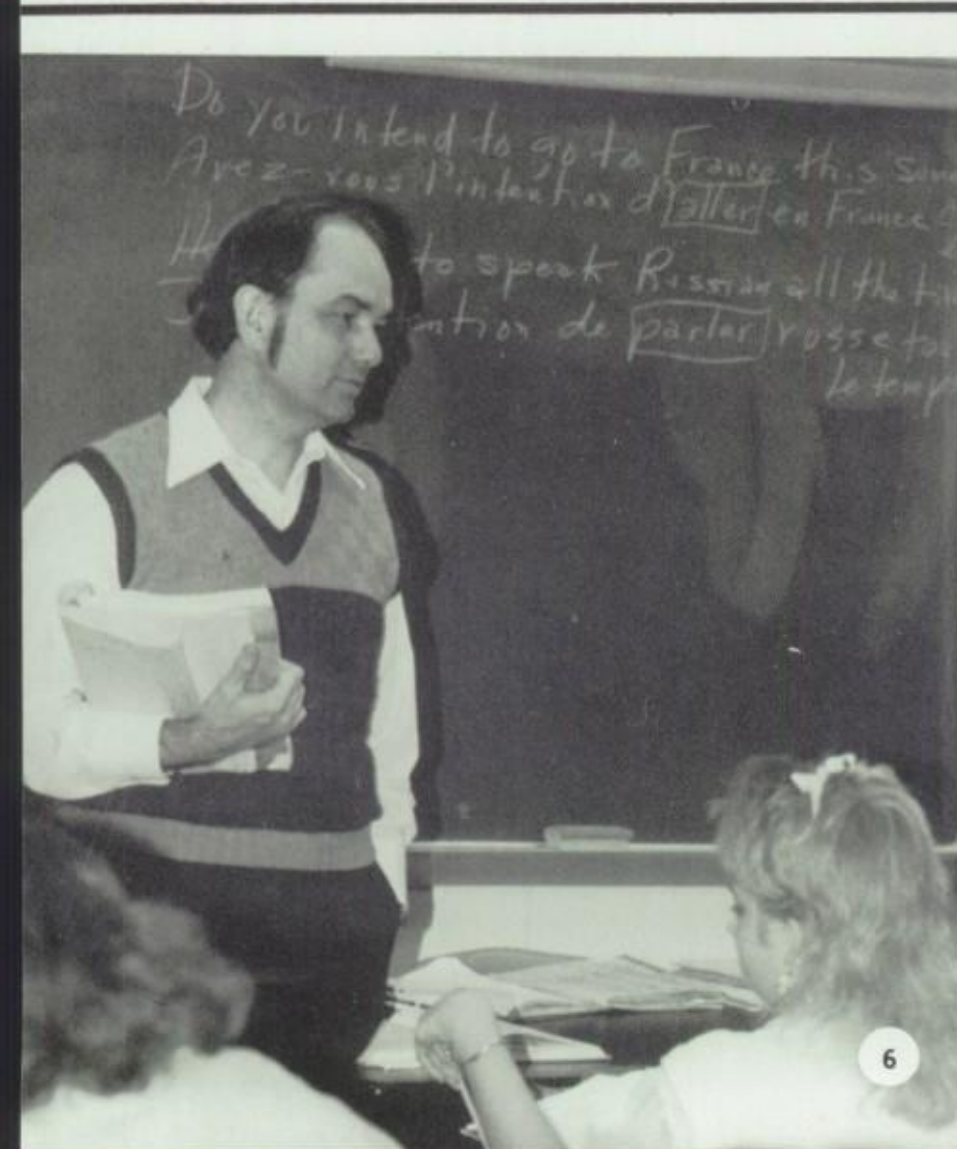

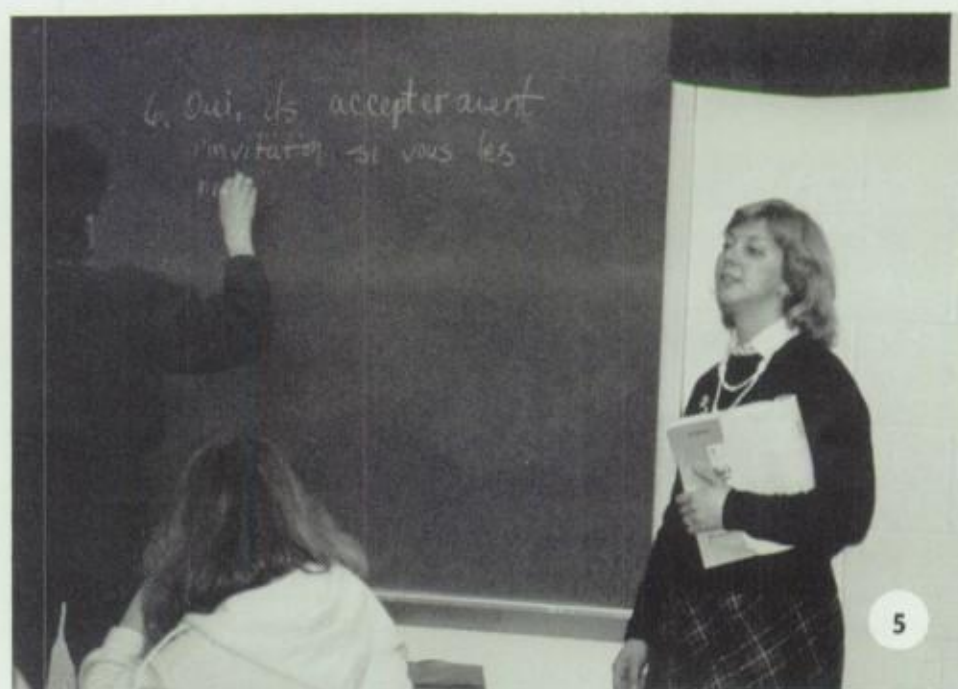

This was an event-filled year for the foreign language department. Department members welcomed a new instructor, Mrs. Seils, who began teaching Spanish I and II. Mrs. Seils developed a love for the Spanish language and culture while visiting Chile as a high school AFS exchange student and studying in Madrid during college.

The French students reviewed basic grammar and vocabulary. The students also studied the French government and society through movies and class lectures. German classes translated many stories and lessons in addition to improving their pronunciations of this guttural language. Latin classes spent a major part of their time studying about the works of Cicero. Spanish classes studied Central and South American countries as well as concentrating on the various verb tenses. The Spanish III and IV students had several "get-togethers" to taste and enjoy different Spanish and Mexican foods.

1. FOREIGN LANGUAGE — Front: Veronica Searles (Latin I and II), Doreene Linzell (Spanish II, III, and IV). Back: Steve Scanlon (Spanish I), Robin Seils (Spanish I and II), Stephanie Hauelsen (French II, III, and IV), Jim Lanier (French I and Spanish I), and George Denino (German I, II, and III).
2. Tim Pavuk enjoys wearing Mrs. Linzell's sombrero during his Spanish II class. The hat is used to collect the names of students who wish to take a swing at one of the piñatas made by fellow students.
3. Becky McCalla gets a chance to control the piñata and make people look silly while they run all over the place trying to hit the piñata.
4. Mrs. Seils speaks in Spanish during her class in an attempt to familiarize students with the pronunciation of the language.
5. With Amy Noble busily writing at the board, Mrs. Hauelsen uses the opportunity to survey her French II class.
6. Listening intently, Mr. Lanier attempts to understand his French speaking student. Mr. Lanier also teaches Spanish I.
7. Mrs. Linzell explains to fifth period Spanish II students exactly which country she wants them to report on. All of Mrs. Linzell's Spanish classes were required to do oral reports on various countries.

Courses prepare students for future

Within the basic curriculum at North were the opportunities for students to have a learning experience in a not-so-basic area. Business, Home Economics, and Industrial Arts classes helped prepare students for future independence and careers. All three departments offered students a chance to learn new skills and to take a break from the regular learning schedule.

The Home Ec. Department offered a variety of classes oriented toward the everyday living skills of cooking, sewing, and child care. Some of these classes were Bachelor/Bachelorette Living, Experience with Foods, and Marriage and Family.

The Business department focused on training students in the business areas. Classes offered included typing, accounting, and business law.

In the Industrial Arts department, wood working prevailed, but classes in metal and drafting were also offered.

1. Row 1: Lou Simmons (Woodshop, Drafting, Driver's Ed), Ruth Shaweker (Independent Living, Bachelor Living, Child Dev.), Carrol Carle (Typing I, Exploratory Business). Row 2: Jennifer Mohrman (Bachelor Living, Experience with Foods, Marriage and Family, Creative Liv.), Shari Fitzhugh (Creative Liv., Bachelor Living), Dodie Kleiner (Accounting I, Business Law, Shorthand I, Basic Typing), Karen Buzard (General Math, Accounting I & II).
2. Mrs. Mohrman demonstrates the proper way to pin a seam to Doug Owens. Sewing is part of the Bachelor Living class.
3. In the wood shop many dangerous power tools are used. James Pickholtz takes precautions by wearing his safety glasses.
4. Derek Pittman and Eric Lisheid practice their sauteeing skills.
5. Beth Henry keeps a little boy company in her Child Development class. As a part of the class a one week nursery school is held.
6. Mrs. Carle shows freshman Barb Brown the proper way to type. Mrs. Carle's daughter, Kim, is a freshman at North.
7. Mr. Simmons observes Eric Whiteside on the lathe which is used to put designs on wood post, table legs and other items.

Vocational students plan future careers

Not sure of your career choice? How will you prepare for your career goal? Well, vocational students have already worked hard to prepare for their chosen careers. The majority of students will explore their career choice for about two years at one of six schools: Westerville North, Westerville South, Northeast Career Center, Northwest Career Center, Southeast Career Center, or Fort Hayes. The students have a choice of almost eighty programs including auto mechanics at Westerville North and vocational agriculture and vocational horticulture at Westerville South. OWE is also offered to students at WNHS who have difficulty with their regular studies and would prefer to work in the community. All the vocational students are trained and instructed on effective job performance by certified teachers. Most students will probably be placed in a job before graduation.

1. VOCATIONAL TEACHERS — Ron Balconi (OWE), Charlie Ross (Auto Mechanics 11), Dan Fawcett (OWE), Tom Peet (Auto Mechanics 12).
2. AM VOCATIONAL — Row 1: C. Webb, J. Bernardo. Row 2: L. Ide, C. Tucker, B. Marburger. Row 3: J. West, L. Sturgell, B. Keener.
3. AM AUTO MECHANICS — Row 1: T. Lemmon, R. Routt. Row 2: P. Devoe, G. George. Row 3: A. Callahan, J. Hoermie, Mr. Peet. Row 4: C. Parker, S. Murphy, R. Zimmer. Row 5: J. McClurg, J. Miesse.
4. OWE — Row 1: R. Shirk, T. Logsdon, C. Williamson. Row 2: Mr. Balconi, N. Perkins, J. Varadi, J. Johnston, S. Rudduck. Row 3: M. Hale, C. Kelly.
5. PM VOCATIONAL — Front: B. Slattery. Row 1: W. Boldt, R. Dudley, B. Oney, L. Newman. Row 2: M. Davis, D. Holmes, L. Hoy, M. Smith, M. Ogilbee. Row 3: T. Smith, D. Carpenter, J. Pickholtz, N. Horton, P. Houghton. Row 4: P. Ide, K. Commeans, G. Faryman.
6. PM AUTO MECHANICS — Row 1: T. Miller, R. Mohney, M. Keplar. Row 2: T. King, D. Noe, D. Brining, J. Beddow, Mr. Ross. Row 3: K. Cox, D. Curran, S. Walker. Row 4: R. Ysseldyke, M. Soisson. Row 5: S. VanNatta, E. Barkes.
7. Jeff Miesse and Jeff McClurg work tediously to get their job done. They also have some fun while working, which is quite evident from the expression on Jeff McClurg's face.
8. OWE — Row 1: C. Remely, H. Long, S. Lawall. Row 2: S. Pritchard, L. Leclair, J. Chapman, Mr. Fawcett. Row 3: B. McMillen, D. Cathcart. Row 4: T. Wilson.

Secretaries score with staff and students

1. ATTENDANCE HELPERS — Row 1: B. Oney, M. Hall, C. DeVoe, T. Souders, M. Stebbins, D. Eplin, D. Hamilton. Row 2: J. Susey, J. Crider, D. McClelland, K. Hall.
2. Debra McClelland and Mrs. Lewis match a face in the Golden Warrior with a name on the attendance list.
3. SECRETARIES — Row 1: Carlene Kaser (main office), Patricia Lewis (athletic office), Phyllis Sauerman (main office). Row 2: Irene Wood (guidance office), Jodi Odgers (media center), Alice Croce (attendance office), Dorothy Gaus (main office), Jane Rickey (study hall). Not Pictured: Regina Fabian (guidance office).

1. Mrs. Sauerman, secretary to Mr. Whitaker, never loses her smile as she keeps the front office running smoothly.
2. The guidance counselors depend on Mrs. Fabian to keep their appointments organized.
3. Office helper Molly Doon answers the phone for Mrs. Gaus in her absence.
4. OFFICE HELPERS — Row 1: C. Tosi, K. Carter, K. Porter, S. Noble. Row 2: A. Trueman, K. Schoessler, L. Tucker, J. Neuhardt, L. McConaghy. Row 3: S. Christie, D. Douglas, J. Thompson.

ADVERTISEMENTS

"Grandpa" Bernowski volunteers at North

by Katie Porter

If anyone in Westerville mentions the name Joe Bernowski, or "Grandpa," as he affectionately called by all who know him, everyone recognizes it — especially athletes. This name conjures up an image of a smiling man, wearing a North baseball cap and driving a red Ford pickup or a tractor. It also brings to mind a hard working man and a dedicated sports fan who brings smiles to the faces of the kids in Westerville with lots of hugs, and, of course, a pack of gum.

Grandpa's presence is not pictured in only one setting or one season, though. During the football season, he cuts grass, removes pebbles, and works with the water lines. In the winter, he patrols the locker rooms for the basketball teams. However, the baseball and softball seasons are his specialty. Grandpa devotes six hours a day to working on fields, not only at North, but also at Westerville South, St. Paul, Walnut Springs, Robert Frost, and Otterbein. Grandpa has been working on the fields since 1976 when he retired. His main reason for devoting his time to helping the kids of Westerville is quite simple ... he loves them!

Grandpa, Westerville North loves you, too!

Senior year is unique

Seniors no longer have to stand in line to get a small "mugshot" for the yearbook; instead they choose a favorite pose from professional portraits at a studio. Most seniors turn eighteen during their final year of high school, which enables them to sign out from school if they are ill or have an appointment.

In the spring, seniors become wrapped up in a whirl-wind of activities. Memories Night is a long-awaited evening when seniors are honored for their scholastic and athletic achievements. Some also receive "special" awards that have been voted on by members of their class. Baccalaureate is a service for serious reflection upon the past and future. Commencement, the final ceremony of the year, is the official passing out of diplomas and the joyful tossing of mortar boards into the air. Seniors reminisce about the fun they have had and worry about what they will be doing in the future. But on that final day, through all the pomp and circumstance, the graduates' minds are filled with the memories of their high school life.

by Leslee Warren

The seniors have lived through many experiences to reach graduation: overwhelming responsibilities, too many all-nighters, late assignments, parents' wrath at less-than-average grades, and just plain hard work. But the occurrence of several new experiences remind seniors that the end of their high school life is fast approaching.

A NEW BEGINNING

There's a way to reach anything,
'Cause everything seems to have a start.
There's a road that'll take you anywhere.
Find that road; take it very far.

I think it's time to set my sails to the wind.
I know where I'm going, I won't be back again.
I'm gonna leave my trouble behind.
I'm gonna uncloud my mind.
I've got this feeling deep within.
I think it's time for a new beginning.
